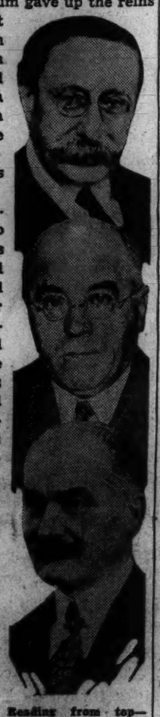
FRENCH CABINET OUT; DICTATOR PLEA REJECTED

Blum Loses Fight to Rule Finance.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, June 21 (Monday).—(AP)—Camille Chautemps, Radical Socialist former premier, was designated early today by President Albert Lebrun to attempt formation of a new cabinet to succeed Leon Blum's resigned People's Front government.

PARIS, June 21 [Monday].—(AP)—Premier Leon Blum gave up the reins of government early today on the seventeenth day of his second year in power—a marathon term in France, where ministries have lasted as little as a day.



Reading from top—Leon Blum, Albert Sarraut, and President Lebrun.

The scholarly Socialist, who never before was a minister until he became head of the Popular Front government, resigned after the senate twice rejected his demands for full powers to regulate France's finances by decree.

Senators dubbed his demands "dictatorial," but the premier consistently averred it was impossible to bring order into France's treasury without them.

Twice he went before the upper house — Saturday and yesterday — and twice it voted down bills which would have given him the powers he sought.

Blum Decides to Resign.

Late last night, when all hope of a favorable vote in the senate vanished, it became known he would resign. The decision was taken in an emergency session of the cabinet which began at midnight and announced at 2:25 a. m.

A successor to Blum, who had weathered several crises during his term, was not immediately in sight.

Deputies agreed, however, in declaring they believed the president of the republic would find it a long task to obtain some one other than Blum capable of governing with any majority other than the Popular Front of Radical Socialists, Socialists and communists.

Downfall Important Event.

The disappearance of the Blum government was regarded by all sides as of enormous importance internationally in view of the great part it played in a Europe of acute political differences.

Observers said they considered the French Popular Front as one of the principal bulwarks of Europe's leftist tendencies as opposed to the extreme right, or Fascist opinion.

Its openly expressed sympathy for the Spanish government in the civil war was regarded by many as one of the major factors in balancing the lineup of nations on the thorny question of how to deal with problems arising from the peninsular conflict.

Substitute Bill Beaten.

The downfall of Blum and his cabinet first became evident Saturday when the senate voted against granting the premier emergency financial powers. Last night it rejected a substitute measure which would have given the Popular Front régime restricted financial powers. The vote was 168 to 96.

The substitute measure was designed to authorize the government to take measures to suppress speculation and maintain the gold value of the franc without attempting to control foreign exchange, and to restore the government's finances and protect the savings of the public.

It also was intended to forbid any requisitioning of foreign securities in France.

After rejecting the substitute measure the senate passed its committee's bill for greatly restricted powers for the government, which the premier refused to accept, by 199 votes to 82.

Johnstown, Pa., June 20.—[Special.]—With the Bethlehem Steel corporation's Cambria plant closed by order of Gov. George H. Earle, the 15,000 employés were out of work tonight. And 500 of the governor's state police were on guard to keep them out of work.

Mayor D. J. Shields.

Under the governor's régime of modified martial law, the state police turned the workers of the day shift back when they reported this morning. Nonstriking workers within the plant left after the company submitted, under protest, to the governor's order that the plant be closed until the strike is settled.

90 Per Cent Want to Work.

Flatly charging that Gov. Earle is an advocate of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial organization, Mayor Daniel J. Shields said that 90 per cent of the employés want to go back to work.

Legal authorities said that Gov. Earle, in declaring martial law on Saturday, had committed an act of war. Under the law of contracts, they said, an act of war voids contracts during the period of the suspension of civil rule. Therefore, the experts said, the company will not be liable for damages in event of failure to fill contract orders on time.

"Martial law is unnecessary," Mayor Shields said. "I had the strike virtually settled last Friday. But as the governor is a C. I. O. advocate, he is trying to force the Bethlehem company to accept the C. I. O.

Churches Back Mayor's Stand.

"The men want to work. The citizens are 100 per cent behind me in my determination to let them work. The churches endorsed my stand at their services this morning.

"I intend to take legal action to restore civil authority."

The Rev. David K. Allen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, telegraphed Gov. Earle this morning asking him to reopen the plant.

But Gov. Earle said there was no possibility that martial law would be ended soon. He said it would be continued indefinitly.

Patrols Entire Strike Area.

Col. Augustine S. Janeway, placed in command of the city by the governor, said:

"We are patroling the entire area. We are doing this job in military fashion."

While the darkness remained unbroken by the red glow of the furnaces that is always seen in Youngstown, and the governor waited to see if the steel strike mediation board could find him a way out of his muddle at its first meeting in Cleveland tomorrow, Mayor Shields said that martial law is ruining business.

Defies Martial Law.

Protesting that his rights had been usurped, the mayor defied the martial law edict and sat as magistrate in the cases of 12 strikers and strike sympathizers.

C. I. O. leaders were jubilant over the way in which the governor had come to their rescue when the strike seemed lost.

Neither wages nor hours are concerned in the strike, which was called to compel recognition of the C. I. O. union.

Lewis Gleeful as Government Rescues Strike

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 20.—[Special.]—John L. Lewis, steel strike generalissimo, departed for Cleveland tonight highly satisfied with the progress of his warfare on the independent steel companies. He will appear tomorrow morning before the three man board appointed by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins to attempt to settle the strike that has paralyzed a large area of industry, resulted in sacrifice of lives and destruction of property and produced conditions bordering on insurrection.

Lewis departed for the strike front with unconcealed satisfaction with a series of triumphs over the steel companies with the aid of the federal and state governments in which he bulks large as a more or less invisible power.

It was only a week ago today that he came out with the open demand that the President order the Democratic governors of the states affected to close the strike bound steel mills and keep them closed until the employers enter into signed agreements with the C. I. O. union.

Backed by Roosevelt.

The left wing labor leader did not have to wait long for a succession of actions and utterances by the heads of the federal and state governments that reacted to the advantage of the C. I. O., and the disadvantage of the employers. Mr. Roosevelt led the way and set the example when at his press conference on Tuesday he gave it as his opinion that the steel corporations had no valid excuse for refusing to sign written agreements with the union.

With this gesture of administration aid as a starter Lewis was immensely pleased, but he expected and had been promised more. In fact he was so well assured that the President would intervene in the strike that he canceled a trip to Chicago to address a massmeeting and remained on the scene in Washington.

He was pulling a myriad of wires to get government intervention and Thursday he was rewarded. Democratic Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio announced failure of his mediation efforts and appealed to Washington to intervene.

Lewis Scents Victory.

Within two hours after receipt of the formal appeal from Davey the President had approved the appointment of a mediation board the members of which had been selected in advance. The personnel of the board was acceptable to Lewis, all of the members being on record in writing as sharing the view that collective bargaining necessitates written contracts. With the written contract the sole issue in the steel strike, Lewis does not see how he can possibly lose the arbitration by a board holding such views.

The Lewis objective of getting the mills closed by the state authorities, however, proved a harder nut to crack. Most of the mills were operating with nonstrikers at various degrees of capacity production. The big Bethlehem mill at Johnstown, Pa., was operating at 70 per cent capacity. The mill was being guarded by vigi-

THREE AIRMEN LAND 580 MILES SHORT OF GOAL

Vancouver, Wash., June 20.—(AP)—Three soviet airmen blazed a nonstop sky trail from Moscow over the north pole to the United States and landed unheralded here today, forced down by murky weather. They missed their goal by 580 miles.

The huge winged monoplane glided to a perfect landing at Pearson field at 11:22 a. m., Chicago time. The plane and its weary crew had been in the air 63 hours and 17 minutes, when poor visibility brought them to earth. Oakland, Cal., was the destination of their planned 6,000 mile flight.

Officials at Oakland promptly ordered the plane's instruments sealed and shipped to Washington, D. C., for calibration. They said the action, taken at the request of Soviet Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky, would mean the official end of the flight, which was completed, so far as nonstop plans went, when the plane's wheels rolled to a stop here.

Fog Worse than Ice.

Gales which swept across the roof of the world and ice that formed on the wings were battled successfully by the flyers, but a haze which spread across this North Pacific area early today brought an end to the flight.

No direct word on immediate plans came from the aviators, Pilot Valeri Chekaloff, Co-Pilot George Phillipovitch Baibukoff, and Navigator Alexander Vassilievitch Beliakoff.

Troyanovsky flew from San Francisco to Vancouver to extend congratulations to his countrymen, first ever to fly nonstop across the bleak polar region from the U. S. S. R. to the United States. With him were S. Shumovsky, V. Begunov, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Durant. The ambassador went at once to join the flyers at Vancouver barracks.

"Only Start," Says Envoy.

Ambassador Troyanovsky said tonight the feat was "only the beginning" of his country's aviation exploits.

The aviators, exhausted by their journey, remained sound asleep, and there was no indication when they would be able to tell of their spectacular adventure.

Shortly after their arrival the tired airmen retired to the home of Brig. Gen. George C. Marshall, commandant of the 5th U. S. army brigade here.

Chekaloff, acting as spokesman for the trio through an interpreter, said they felt all right, but the strain of their venture plainly showed in their faces as they emerged from their single motored ship, apparently witnessed only by two university of Oregon R. O. T. C. students.

Crowd Waits at Oakland.

Thousands had gathered at the Oakland airport hoping to welcome them. Another large crowd had gathered at Swan Island airport, Portland, Ore., five miles from here, in hope of getting a glimpse of the transpolar plane.

Navigator Beliakoff and Co-Pilot Baibukoff disclosed that their 33 year old pilot had stuck to the plane's controls over the entire 5,420 mile stretch, without taking food.

Chekaloff disclosed the plane passed over Portland and went 125 miles southward to Eugene before turning back to land because of "impossible" visibility conditions.

Although the plane was reported to have messaged late last night that a pump was not working, Chekaloff denied the fuel pump had been out of order.

Near exhaustion, the three flyers staggered as they emerged from the plane. They gave the appearance of having gone through great hardship. But even before they turned to stimulants and food, they inspected their plane.

Answer Phone from Moscow.

They answered one telephone call from Moscow, the nature of which was undisclosed, but refused to take a second call from the soviet capital. Interpreters quoted the flyers as saying they were aware of their position at all times. They said the most difficult phase of the flight was over Prince Patrick Island, 1,000 miles south of the pole, where they encountered sleet, and along the Pacific

Squall Lashes Chicago; Save 15 from Lake

Fifteen persons were rescued from the lake by the crew of the old Chicago coast guard station last evening as a furious storm swept the Chicago district.

Within the city scores of trees were blown down and lightning struck in many places. Flooded viaducts and driving rain that disabled ignition systems forced many motorists to abandon their cars.

The storm followed a sultry day in which the temperature had climbed to 91. The mercury toppled after the storm.

While the rest of the city sweltered high temperatures were halted at the doors of the Tribune Tower. Inside the temperature was regulated by the building's air cooling system, which was installed in 1934 at a cost of half a million dollars.

Coast Guard Busy.

Although most of the craft on the lake reached safety before the storm struck, the coast guard was forced to go to the aid of five vessels. The Free Lance, a thirty foot sloop with three men and two women aboard, was first towed in. A few minutes later the rescuers towed in the Spray, a twenty foot sloop, whose auxiliary motor had stalled with a man and woman aboard.

Without stopping, the coast guards raced to the rescue of the Alskling, with three men aboard, at the seven mile light. Then they brought in the Svex, with three men aboard also, disabled in the same area. The final rescue was of two men who were clinging to a capsized sailboat a mile off Montrose avenue. The coast guards worked so fast they did not have time to get the names of all those they saved.

Lightning Hits Church.

Meanwhile, three men and a woman, unable to reach Belmont harbor, had anchored their 16 foot sloop outside the harbor and ridden out the storm. Leo Petrich, 22 years old, was rescued as he clung to his overturned sailboat canoe off Evanston by a modest hero in a motor boat who did not divulge his name. Petrich lives at 1405 Leonard place, Evanston.

The Rev. A. G. Quille reported that lightning struck the chimney of Our Lady of Good Counsel church at 3528 South Hermitage avenue. Twenty trees were blown down at the River Forest Country club in Elmhurst, one of them crushing four parked cars. The flooded pavement caved in on Addison street near Hermitage avenue.

Huge crowds visited the beaches for a sun tan, although the water was so chilly that few bathers actually went swimming. No drownings were reported, but the coast guard recovered the body of Kermit Isaacson, 10 years old, of 2555 Cullom avenue, drowned Saturday off Montrose street.

FOUR KILLED IN MICHIGAN.

Jackson, Mich., June 20.—(AP)—Four men were killed and three persons were reported missing tonight as a violent storm whipped across southern Michigan, causing widespread damage. Rain, lightning, and high winds marked the storm.

The dead were Wallace J. Smith, 47, and Emmett J. Mueller, 41, Detroit business executives, killed by lightning near North Branch; Steve O'Rourke, 33, Detroit, electrocuted when he got out of his car to remove wires from a highway near Detroit, and an unidentified man killed near Addison.

The coast guard station on Lake St. Clair, north of Detroit, sent out boats to search for two boys reported adrift in a small boat. The La Salle, a sloop from the Detroit Yacht club, with seven aboard, was missing on Lake Erie.

WHITE BOY TO RUN AGAINST ZUNIS IN INDIAN STICK RACE

Zuni, N. M., June 20.—(AP)—A ten year old tow headed youngster today was ready to start in an Indian stick race, the first white boy ever to seriously threaten supremacy of the sinewy Zunis in the grueling 10 mile marathon.

Ernie Vanderwagen, son of Ed Vanderwagen, who was the first white boy to live in ancient Zuni, won his chance to enter by a victory last week when he set a pace so fast it broke the Spartan endurance of his Indian playmates.

The stick race is run barefoot over the rock and cactus strewn flats at the foot of Thunder mountain. The runners, in teams, half kick and half turow with their toes foot long pieces of wood. The team whose stick crosses the finish line first wins.

Population of Sing Sing 2,602—All-Time High

Ossining, N. Y., June 20.—[Special.]—Sing Sing prison's population reached a new all-time high today, with 2,602 offenders, including ten under sentence of death. Only sixty-nine vacant cells are left in the prison.

Helen and Joan Tell 2 Stories All About Andy

This is the way Helen tells it:

The cake was ordered. The invitations were mailed. The wedding gown was almost finished. And so she gave Andy $30 last Friday to get the license and the ring and hire the minister for their marriage, which she had set for next Saturday.

Andy came over last Saturday evening to say he'd arranged everything. When he left he kissed her good-by and said he'd be back for Sunday dinner.

But dinner time passed, and Andy didn't appear. Helen called her best friend, Joan, to tell her Andy was missing and ask her what to do.

"Andy?" repeated Joan. "Why, I married him yesterday. I didn't know you wanted him. We're going to California. He left just a while ago to buy a car for the trip."

Helen, who's 18, and brunette, cried when she heard that. And so Joan, who's 21 and blonde, said goodness, not to cry about a mere husband, even so handsome a husband as Andrew David, who's 22, and lives at 3553 Block avenue in Indiana Harbor.

If Helen wanted him, she could have him, Joan said. She'd just divorce him, and then Helen could marry him. Like that.

Miss Helen Bobas dried her tears in her home at 4760 McCook avenue, East Chicago, and decided that Miss Joan Zarranka, who lives at 3940 Hemlock street, Indiana Harbor, was a friend indeed.

Helen hurried to the Austin police and had Sergt. James Maskell accompany her to the auto dealer's, at 5308 Madison street, to see if Andy had bought the car yet. The dealer said he'd never heard of Andy. Then Helen cried some more.

This is the way Joan tells it:

"Certainly I married him, in Valparaiso. Give him up? I should say not."

Chekaloff said their water supply froze as they passed over the pole.

Friday night, as the plane was nearing the uncharted polar wastes, ice began forming on its wings, and a polar murk forced the aviators into blind flying with instruments subject to the weird effects of polar fields.

Lieutenant Commander Clarence A. Williams, navigation expert, described the area as a "magnetic and mathematical jungle" in which navigating instruments would perform weird gymnastics and finally fail altogether.

There was no apparent lack of fuel, as Chekaloff said the tanks held sufficient gasoline for 750 miles more of flight, more than necessary to reach Oakland.

Arrival Unheralded.

The huge red low winged monoplane swung onto Pearson field entirely unheralded, while newspapermen and crowds of spectators stood in the rain at the airport in Portland, rounding out an all night vigil.

Chekaloff's first words upon landing were a request for a drink of water.

The three were pioneering a possible commercial air route between Russia and California. In 1935 an attempt to fly the same route failed before the soviet aviators reached the north pole.

News of the landing gave the first definite word of the aviator's location since 2:25 a. m. Sunday, when they reported they were 50 miles west of the north tip of Vancouver Island.

"I receive you well," the fliers reported at that time to the United States army signal corps station at Seattle. "Position is 50 miles west of north tip of Vancouver Island. Give weather reports immediately Seattle to San Francisco."

Spectators Kept from Plane.

The aviators were dressed in caps, turtle neck sweaters and heavy army shoes, with skins, fur side outward, over their legs and feet. The effect was that of cowboy chaps. Baibukoff and Beliakoff stayed with the plane, while Chekaloff talked with reporters. George Kazmetsky, R. O. T. C. student from the University of Washington, acted as his interpreter.

As word of the landing spread, spectators flocked to the field but were kept away from the plane by soldiers from the barracks.

Had the trio reached Oakland, they would have bettered the long distance flight record now held by the Frenchmen, Paul Codas and Maurice Rossi, who flew 5,637 miles from New York to Syria in August, 1935.

Presumably because of the failure of the 1935 attempt the present venture was guarded in secrecy at the outset and observance of much of the undertaking was difficult.

The flyers were 24 hours out and well on their way into the polar region before announcement of the takeoff was made in Moscow.

Official "Soviet Heroes."

Officially titled "Heroes of the Soviet Union" are the three flyers who hurtled over the top of the world to the United States. They received the titles for an experimental flight last year, designed to prove the feasibility of long distance nonstop aviation in arctic cold. They flew an unofficial 5,858 miles.

Chief Pilot Chekaloff, the son of a Volga boatman, joined the bolshevik army in 1919. He was 15 at the time. After the revolution he entered a pilot's school and later made special studies of army pursuit planes. He holds the honorary Order of Lenin, awarded him for heroism as a test pilot at the Aviation Research institute.

Assistant Pilot Baibukoff has been both a test pilot and research worker in soviet aeronautics.

Beliakoff, the navigator, attended military school in the days of the czar and served in the World war. He was revolutionary commander of a chemical unit of the Chapayev army.

Congratulated by Roosevelt.

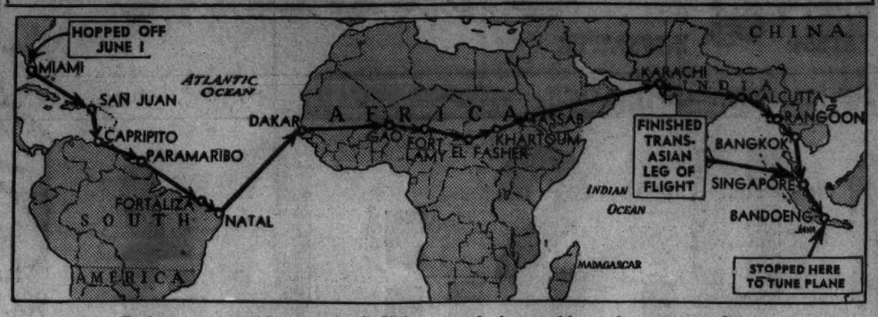
Washington, D. C., June 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt telegraphed today his congratulations to the three soviet airmen for their trans-polar flight to the United States.

Mr. Roosevelt extended his congratulations through the Russian ambassador, Alexander Troyanovsky, who was en route to Vancouver where the airmen landed.

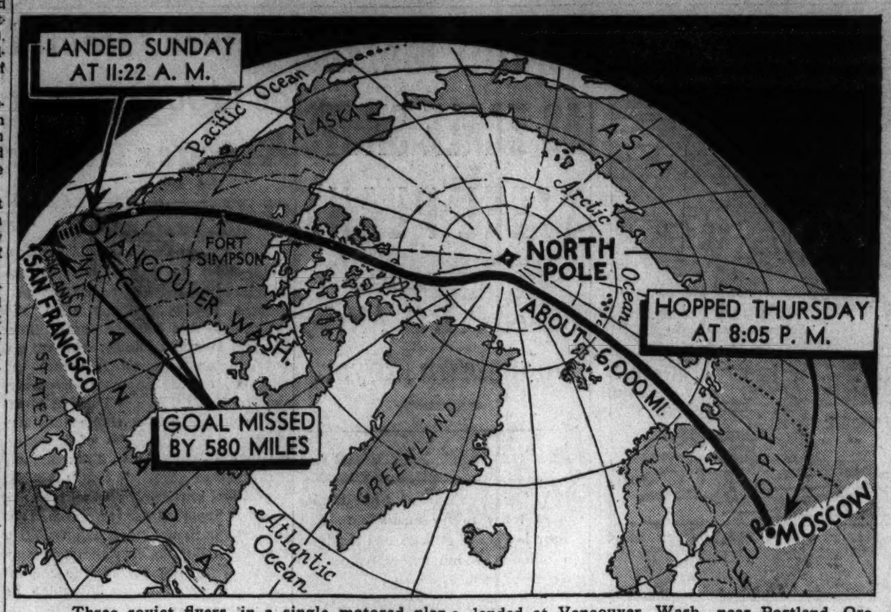
His telegram to Troyanovsky said: "I have learned with the greatest pleasure of the successful conclusion of the first nonstop flight from the soviet union to the United States. The skill and daring of the three soviet airmen who have so brilliantly carried out this historic feat commands the highest praise.

"Please convey to them my warmest congratulations."

TWO FLIGHTS—AROUND WORLD'S EQUATOR; OVER ITS TOP



Amelia Earhart, on her "just for fun" flight around the world at the equator, finished her flight across Asia when she reached Singapore yesterday. After breakfasting she flew to Bandoeng, Java, Dutch East Indies, where she stopped to have her plane overhauled preparatory to her flight over the Pacific ocean.



Three soviet flyers, in a single motored plane, landed at Vancouver, Wash., near Portland, Ore., yesterday after a nonstop flight across the north pole from Moscow. They were in the air 63 hours and 17 minutes. A Pacific fog balked their efforts to beat the French long distance record of 5,637 miles.

12 BALLOONS HOP IN BENNETT RACE AS 100,000 CHEER

BRUSSELS, June 20.—[(AP)]—Twelve balloons soared into the dusk tonight in the 25th Gordon Bennett race. Nearly 100,000 persons cheered the competitors on their way.

A light wind was blowing in the direction of Germany and a light rain was falling when the race, second in the series for the fifth Gordon Bennett cup, began. Thunderstorms were reported from the east.

Belgium, Germany and Poland entered three balloons each, France two, and Switzerland one.

Maid at Evanston Hotel Hurt in Elevator Shaft Fall

Miss Ruth Karr, 27 years old, a maid at the Georgian hotel, 422 Davis street, Evanston, was seriously injured yesterday when she fell to the bottom of a service elevator shaft from the second floor. She was about to get into the elevator when it suddenly jerked up and she fell into the shaft, according to Victor Jurie, the elevator operator.

BRITISH STEAMER IS SWEPT BY FIRE; SAVE PASSENGERS

SYDNEY, Australia, June 20.—(AP)—The captain of the 4,561 ton British liner Macdhui, which caught fire near Salamua in the Samoan islands in the South Pacific, reported late today all danger was past.

The steamer Neptune, which raced to the liner's assistance, completed the transfer of passengers and began towing the Macdhui to port. When the fire broke out, 150 native passengers were put ashore by boat on the New Guinea coast as a precaution against possible panic, which would have hindered the firefighters.

BREAKFAST GOES TO 3 WHO DROP IN FROM MOSCOW

Vancouver, Wash., June 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Katheryn Marshall, wife of the commanding officer at the Vancouver barracks, played hostess—a little unexpectedly—today to three flyers from Moscow, who dropped out of the skies on Pearson field.

It was just about breakfast time and she already had the coffee steaming, the eggs frying and the bacon crisping for her own family.

The breakfast, no longer for the family, went to the three hungry flyers, unfed since they left the soviet capital sixty-three hours before.

Orderlies hastened up to the bedrooms with food. There came a request for cognac. More orderlies rushed about the post and brought whisky, but it didn't satisfy the quiet, courteous flyers. Finally two bottles of cognac appeared and the three men drank the works.

They bathed, shaved, and went to bed for a much needed sleep.

ONE DAY TRUCE RESTORES PEACE IN YOUNGSTOWN

Two Dead, 25 Wounded After Strike Riot.

Youngstown, O., June 20.—[Special.]—Sabbath quiet prevailed in this center of the Mahoning valley steel industry today under terms of a truce arranged early this morning between Sherif Ralph Elser and John Stevenson, Committee for Industrial Organization leader, after a three hour riot last night that left two C. I. O. strikers dead and 25 persons wounded. Among the injured was Mary Heaton Vorse, New York magazine writer, who was grazed by a bullet.

Police and C. I. O. strikers fought for three hours last night in front of the main entrance to the Republic Steel corporation's plant in east Youngstown. Many shots were fired and tear gas was used freely before the rioters retreated and police regained control of the situation.

Riot Cause Disputed.

Both sides dispute reasons for the rioting. C. I. O. leaders said police fired tear gas into a crowd of women who refused to disperse on their order. Police said they were attacked and used the gas only to defend themselves. They denied firing a single shot.

Panic ensued when the gas was released. Pickets forced police into a narrow railway underpass where the fight raged under the dim glow of street lights. Police called for reinforcements and Sherif Elser sent deputies in armored cars. A number of the deputies were shot.

Attack Unprovoked.

"Members of the police department did nothing to provoke the attacks made by pickets." Police Chief Carl Olsen declared today in an official statement. "The pickets began the attack upon the police, calling them vile names and throwing stones and paving bricks.

"Tear gas was not used by the police until after they were attacked. Members of the police department did no shooting at any time during the attack. Pickets blocked the street and prevented reinforcements being sent to aid police.

"During the rioting sniping from the hilltop and by individuals in the mob occurred. Police cars were damaged. Rioters opened all water hydrants and streets in the vicinity of the plant were flooded.

"It was evident to me during the three hours that I was there that the rioting was planned in advance, because nobody was attempting to get into the mill."

At nearby Warren, O., and 50 miles away at Canton, O., tonight police were apprehensive of more trouble over threats of strikers to prevent a proposed back-to-work march at plants of the Republic corporation in both cities.

KILLED AS BUZZ SAW BREAKS.

Louis Foresta, 49 years old, 354 East 91st street, was killed yesterday while cutting railroad ties with a buzz saw. The saw blade shattered and a piece buried itself in Foresta's head.

U. S. MEDIATORS WILL HEAR STEEL AND UNION CHIEFS

Heads of Four Companies to Present Views.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., June 20.—[Special.]—Indications here today are that Secretary Perkins' steel strike mediation board faces a hopeless task tomorrow when it begins attempts at conciliation in the tense and bitter warfare between the radical Committee for Industrial Organization and four of the country's largest independent steel producing companies.

Aid in Fact Finding.

The steel executives in accepting invitations to appear tomorrow take the view that they are to aid the board in "fact finding and in making recommendations for settlement." They do not consider, so it now is reported, that they are appearing to attend conciliation conferences.

"This is not a question for mediation," said Tom Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel corporation. "This is a question of restoring law and order. We are perfectly willing to have the board investigate both sides and to see whether or not our charges that there is a reign of anarchy is true."

Girdler Firm in Stand.

Girdler also made it clear that he does not propose to sit in the same room with the labor leaders, who will be John L. Lewis, chairman of the C. I. O., and his aid, Philip Murray, national chairman of the steel workers organizing committee.

Throughout the day the board members, who are Charles P. Taft, Cincinnati lawyer and son of the late William Howard Taft, former President and chief justice of the Supreme court; Dean Lloyd Garrison of the University of Wisconsin law school, and Edward F. McGarry, assistant secretary of labor, were closeted in their suite in a hotel here.

HIT BY TRAIN; DIES.

James Dullaghan, 47 years old, 802 West Madison street, a switchman for the Milwaukee road, died yesterday in Washington Boulevard hospital of injuries incurred Saturday when he was struck by a freight train near Laramie and Bloomingdale avenues.

LEWIS GLEEFUL AS GOVERNMENT RESCUES STRIKE

Lost Cause Is Revived by Intervention.

lantes organized by the community and popular sentiment was running strongly against the union and the violence and intimidation practiced by the union pickets. If Lewis suffered a defeat in the Bethlehem area his entire strike against the independents would be threatened by collapse.

"Invasion" Is Planned.

Lewis acted quickly to strengthen his forces at Johnstown, resorting to extreme measures to circumvent the success with which the Bethlehem plant was continuing in operation and daily attracting increasing numbers of men back to their jobs.

He organized a demonstration of 40,000 strikers, members of his Mine Workers' union and other sympathizers, which was to take place today. With recruits to the demonstration being drawn from distant localities to reinforce the local strikers, it was referred to from the start by the union leaders as the "invasion."

This move gave the public a glimpse of the mobilization of mob forces that Lewis is able to effect almost at a moment's notice and recalled the charges that the mob that moved on the Republic Steel corporation's plant in Chicago with fatal results had been drilled for the occasion.

Governor Accepts Excuse.

Lewis' organization of the Sunday demonstration at Cambria was seized upon by Democratic Gov. Earle of Pennsylvania as the reason for doing exactly what Lewis had demanded a week ago today. Earle proclaimed a modified form of martial law and ordered the Bethlehem mill closed. Then Lewis called off the Sunday demonstration. The action of the Pennsylvania governor occasioned little surprise.

With his mine workers and other following Lewis is probably the most formidable political force in Pennsylvania. He works hand in glove with Senator Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic boss of Pennsylvania, to whom Earle owes political allegiance and, in fact, his job. Earle is grooming himself for the Democratic nomination for President in 1940 and he will need the support of Lewis no less than that of Guffey to get to first base.

Lewis thus finds his demands of a week ago partly satisfied, but he is not relaxing his maneuvers to attain his full objectives, which include the closing of the mills in Ohio by Gov. Davey, in Indiana by Democratic Gov. M. Clifford Townsend, in Illinois by Democratic Gov. Henry Horner, and in Michigan by Democratic Gov. Frank Murphy.

SNITE STANDING TRIP WELL; DUE HERE TOMORROW

Ogden, Utah, June 20.—(AP)—Frederick Snite Jr., on the last lap of a 12,000 mile land and sea trip in an "iron lung," is enjoying a train ride from San Francisco to Chicago, his father said here tonight. The train is due in the North Western station at Chicago Tuesday morning.

The father, Frederick Snite Sr., wealthy Chicagoan, reported the son, suffering from infantile paralysis, "rested well" last night and ate ham and eggs for breakfast. During the day he played chess with his sister, Mary Loretto Snite, using mirrors to direct his moves.

The party of eighteen persons, including doctors and nurses, arrived here over the Southern Pacific train, then transferred to a four car Union Pacific special train.

The costly trip began in China, where young Snite was stricken fifteen months ago.

SOUTH GAINING BUSINESS FROM STRIKE IN NORTH

Redoubling Efforts to Get New Industries.

Birmingham, Ala., June 20.—[Special.]—With glowing steel mills, unbothered by labor disputes, operating at nearly 100 per cent capacity, Alabama business and industrial leaders today were redoubling their efforts to attract new industries from the strike burdened north to this center of the southern steel district.

Some success already has been noted. Industrial men optimistically expect more. It is their tacitly expressed belief that continued strike disturbances north of the Ohio river by reckless labor leaders will drive many northern businesses here. Such a transfer, some of the more optimistic predict, may well mean an industrial renaissance in the south.

Not Founded on Fancy.

This belief is not founded on fancy. Last week Birmingham's steel production reached the significant rate of 96 per cent, as against the nation's average of 76.6 per cent. The Republic Steel corporation is constructing new open hearth furnaces at its Gadsden, Ala., plant to double ingot capacity. The United States Steel corporation is spending $35,000,000 on an expansion of its Tennessee coal, iron and railroad properties. In addition, Alabama, which never has had a tin plate mill, is to have one, with auxiliary plants, early next year.

These are indicative straws of what many southerners hope will be the south's new era. Industry is thriving here. Birmingham's skies are aglow at night with red reflections from furnaces and mills. Factories are humming day and night.

Joining with this amazing industrial acceleration—and ready to pluck from the north any discontented businesses and transplant them here—are the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce, and the Southeastern Governors' council, headed by Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama, and including eight other Dixie governors.

Fight Freight Rate Handicap.

The two groups hope to break down existing barriers that now are thought to harass industrial aggrandizement. The governors, particularly, hope to force the Interstate Commerce commission to adjust freight rates so that the south will be on a par with states north of the Ohio. It is their complaint that freight rate differentia are 27 per cent higher here than up north, and are "barriers to industrial development in the south." A hearing on this matter will be held in Washington tomorrow.

The chamber of commerce, championed by Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power company, hopes to improve all present and future industries and correct conditions hindering industrial development in the south.

Meanwhile, everybody connected with the large industries is working. No one has time for strikes.

75 UNRULY PICKETS ROUTED BY POLICE AT CHICAGO STEEL PLANT

Seventy-five pickets, about half of them women, were dispersed by the police yesterday when they became abusive at the Republic Steel corporation plant in South Chicago, scene of the Memorial day mob violence.

Capt. Charles Essig, commander of the police on guard there, said the pickets had been yelling epithets at non-striking workers and interfering with automobiles entering and leaving the plant. He permitted the picketers to return when they promised to be more peaceful.

ATTACKS COURT PACKING AS RAPE OF CONSTITUTION

James R. Angell Declares Government Is Partisan.

New Haven, Conn., June 20.—(AP)—President James Rowland Angell of Yale accused the national government today of appearing partisan in the present labor tension and charged that President Roosevelt's proposed Supreme court bill is a means to abet a "rape of the constitution."

James R. Angell.

The retiring head of the university, in his final baccalaureate address delivered at the 236th annual commencement exercises, said the nation's peace and prosperity are in peril and called upon youth to salvage the moral, political, and spiritual values if democracy is to measure up to the compeling needs of the time.

"Legislation designed to relieve tension in industrial relations," he said, "has either been completely disregarded, or, if belatedly used, has often been made a ground for fresh disorder. Most extraordinary, perhaps, of all, and distinguishing this upheaval from any we have known before, is the fact that the national government has appeared as a partisan in the conflict.

Assails Sitdown Doubts.

"The secretary of labor is quoted as not knowing whether a sitdown strike is legal or not, although there is hardly any older doctrin in our common law than that affecting the right of possession of property.

"The executive is charged with having encouraged much of the existing disorder, first by silence in the face of gross violation of law, and destruction of property by labor, and then by criticism of employers for failing to sign contracts with labor groups whose good faith they regard as open to question.

"Certain it is that he has promoted legislation which, if finally enacted, appears to imply the further and complete abdication of the congress, already more than once put into the stultifying position of mere puppets of the executive. This end is to be achieved through the confiding to innumerable anonymous commissions of powers which we had supposed the constitution protected for us in perpetuity.

The Court Packing Purpose.

"To assure this rape of the constitution, it is proposed to bring the judiciary also under the control of the chief magistrate, that these revolutionary measures may in due time be pronounced by the courts constitutional.

"It will require devoted men and women imbued with prophetic vision and inspired with dauntless resolution to see the job through and to salvage the inestimable values — moral, political, and spiritual—which inhere in a liberal democracy while seeing to it that no basic human interest is overlooked.

After touching briefly on the status of dictatorships Dr. Angell referred to the labor unrest in the United States saying:

"Wages, hours of work, overtime pay—all these familiar objects of strikes are in the background. The single vital issue is power, and to gain this the peace and prosperity of the nation is put in jeopardy."

RALPH GRAVES' WIDOW AND FRANCIS B. SAYRE TO WED THIS MONTH

Washington, D. C., June 20.—(AP)—Mrs. William Pierce Evans has announced that her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Evans Graves, will be married late this month to Francis Bowes Sayre, assistant secretary of state.

Francis B. Sayre.

Mrs. Graves is the widow of Ralph Graves, writer and editor. She has two sons and is a teacher of art at Mount Vernon seminary here. Her father was the late Col. William Pierce Evans.

Sayre, a native of South Bethlehem, Pa., and a graduate of Williams college, was married at the White House in 1913 to Jessie Wilson, daughter of President Woodrow Wilson. She died twenty years later. They had three children.

FUR STORAGE

After you've read about these three features of Field's fur storage you'll want to call State 1000 without delay. For this scientific program is no more expensive than ordinary storage. And our storage rates remain the same—3% for the first $400 valuation, 2% above $400. Here's what every stored garment gets:

1. GUARDITE. The positive method of destroying insect life. Every garment automatically passes through the Guardite chamber. Field's is the only store in Chicago that has this equipment. Extra service without extra charge.

2. FRIGID COLD STORAGE. Cold cannot positively destroy insect life. Guardite does that. But frigid temperature is essential to your fur's life and lustre.

3. SAFETY. The protection from theft and damage that is assured when you entrust your furs to Field's.

AND HOLLANDERIZING FOR THOROUGH CLEANING

It's more than cleaning, more than glazing. It's a process that revitalizes furs, restores the lining's freshness . . . yet costs no more than ordinary cleaning, and less in some cases.

HOW WORKERS FARE

Field Manufacturing No. 8

By CALEB

IN a letter written by a "thirster for knowledge" we have been asked some questions about our southern mill operations.

"You talked of Fieldale," said the writer. "Do similar conditions prevail in your other mill communities? Or is Fieldale an experimental community, and consequently statistically better than the others? For instance, in your other mill communities where you own houses, are not those houses crowded with mill workers who have no life but long hours in the mills, from childhood to old age?

"I never lived in one of your mill towns, but I lived in and near some mill towns a few years ago. I would really like to know how your workers fare."

Only 306 of the houses we own are in Fieldale. In our several mill communities we own 1,569 houses. They almost all rent for fifty cents a room a week. There is a tendency for the workers to own their own homes. We encourage that.

Let us, for "thirster after knowledge," analyze the occupancy of those 1,569 homes.

They have 8,299 men and women and children under their roofs.

3,113 work for Marshall Field & Company.

309 work elsewhere.

1,217 are keeping house.

2,124 are in school.

1,265 are of pre-school age.

271 are over 18 and not working or in school.

The houses have from 3 to 7 rooms. There are slightly over 5 people per house. There are slightly less than 2 workers per house. There are 1.21 occupants per room.

We have no employes anywhere in any of the mills under 16 years of age. Only one per cent of our mill employes are between 16 and 18.

We planned the town of Fieldale and literally built it. But in all our communities, the houses are sound, on brick or stone foundations, wired for electricity.

Workers in our mill area remain largely in their all-American communities, but the world comes to them. Movies and radio and publications, for instance. About two Sundays a month, a crowd assembles at a flying field where sight-seeing trips are to be had for $1.50 a head.

All the villages are well peppered with radios, iceless refrigerators, cars, and cows. With almost two wage earners per family, most families have the things they most desire.

STRIKERS' WAGE LOSS SO FAR PUT AT TEN MILLIONS

Steel Pay Toll Mounts at Rate of $500,000 Daily.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

John L. Lewis' fight to force three independent steel companies to put it in writing already has cost 85,000 strike-idle steel workers more than $10,000,000 in wages, and the toll is mounting at the rate of about $500,000 a day. The average steel worker gets $35 a week and the strike is now in its fourth week.

In the Chicago district alone, where strikes have closed the plants of the Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube companies, 22,000 steel workers have lost wages totaling more than $2,500,000. At East Chicago, Ind., where the big Indiana Harbor plants of the two producers are located, the pay roll loss is placed at $85,000 a day.

Signed Contract Only Issue.

A signed contract with the Steel Workers Organizing committee, a division of Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, is the only point at issue. Wages, hours and working conditions in effect at the mills when the strike was called May 26, met the demands of the SWOC.

The companies agreed to bargain with the SWOC for such workers as they represented.

The pay loss is not confined to idle steel workers. The total wage loss due to the strike cannot be calculated. Curtailment and consequent layoff of workers has been forced in many allied and contributory lines.

Inland Steel's idle are generally figured at 13,500, the number employed at the Indiana Harbor and Chicago Heights plants. There are in addition, however, 1,200 more workers idle at the company's coal mines. A big construction program at the Indiana Harbor plant was halted when the strike was called and 800 more workers were forced to quit.

Begin to Feel Pinch Now.

Because of the pay roll system used by the steel companies, the idle are only now beginning to feel the pinch from the lack of income. The companies pay employés two weeks late. A pay day occurred at Inland plants the day the strike was called, so the workers had two weeks' wages to begin with and an equal amount still due them. This was paid by the companies shortly after the shutdown.

From now on the employés—those who want to work as well as those who want to strike—will have to look elsewhere for money. The C. I. O. is planning for the idle workers to be taken care of by a friendly federal government through relief distributions and thus save the organization from paying out substantial strike benefits.

Wives at Mail Quiz

[Acme Photos.]

Mrs. E. C. McDonald of Shaker Heights, O., with package of magazines she told committee she was unable to mail to her husband, a loyal worker.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 20.—[Special.]—Additional witnesses to testify about C. I. O. interference with mail deliveries in the Ohio strike region will be summoned before the senate postoffice committee tomorrow. Several housewives told the committee yesterday how packages containing medicine and clothing which they had attempted to mail to their husbands within strikebound steel plants were returned marked "C. I. O. refuses to permit delivery."

Among them were Mrs. E. C. McDonald of Shaker Heights, O., and Mrs. Rhoda N. Best of Youngstown, O.

No denial has been made at the hearings thus far that the C. I. O. pickets are preventing delivery of mail, the contents of which they consider would be helpful to loyal workers staying in the plants.

DEAF MUTE WALKS AGAINST TRAIN.

Roy Herizman, 38 years old, 7137 Yates avenue, a deaf mute, was seriously injured yesterday when he walked against an Illinois Central suburban train at 71st street and South Shore drive.

PLEAD FOR BREAK IN DEADLOCK ON DRIVERS' LICENSE

The National Safety council and the Chicago Motor club yesterday renewed their pleas for enactment of an Illinois drivers' license law. Both organizations recognize that there is no chance for passage of the measure unless public opinion forces political factions to drop selfish patronage ambitions.

The legislature will convene in Springfield tonight with only eight more working days.

The senate when it convenes will receive a message from the house asking appointment of five from the upper chamber to serve on a conference committee with five appointed from the lower chamber last week. The five from the house are supporting Gov. Henry Horner's ambition to place administration of the act in his highway department. The five from the senate will doubtless be adherents of P. A. Nash, chairman of the Cook county Democratic central committee, seeking to place the administration with Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes.

If the conference committee could compromise—agreeing to let Mr. Hughes issue the licenses and to let the highway police examine applicants—enactment of the regulatory measure would be assured. However, the committee as it is being organized will be made up of two delegations each solidly opposed to the other. Any break in the deadlock will probably have to be started by Gov. Horner and Mr. Nash.

ISH GETTIN' SHO A MAN CAN'T RIDE HISH OWN HORSH

Martin Wilson, 48 years old, a Zion lace maker, paid a deposit on a horse yesterday to Milton Anderson, a farmer west of Zion, and proceeded to ride the horse home. He took busy Sheridan road for his bridle path. Alarmed motorists later saw him draped over the horse's neck like a man returning from the wars, and notified Zion police. Lieut. Moody Simpson hurried out in a flivver, and arrested him. Lieut. Simpson said Wilson had been drinking. He searched the city ordinances covering drunken driving, but could find nothing touching upon drunken riding, so booked Wilson on a plain charge of disorderly conduct.

STOP THAT RISING HAIR LINE

● ● Your hair line rises and baldness comes when you let local scalp disorders (such as dandruff) go un-checked. You can stop that rising hair line and avoid baldness by consulting a Thomas expert.

A Thomas expert will examine your scalp and determine which of the 14 local scalp ills (responsible for almost 90% of all cases of baldness) are attacking your hair-growing structure. He will then specifically overcome those local disorders by adapting the Thomas treatment to meet your precise needs. Your dandruff will disappear; scalp itch will stop; and normal hair growth will be promoted on the thin and bald spots.

Call today for a complete scalp examination. No charge is ever made for a scalp examination or for consultation (always in private). If you do not come within the scope of Thomas treatment you will be frankly told. Remember—the scalp examination is free.

Demand Fresh cigarettes!

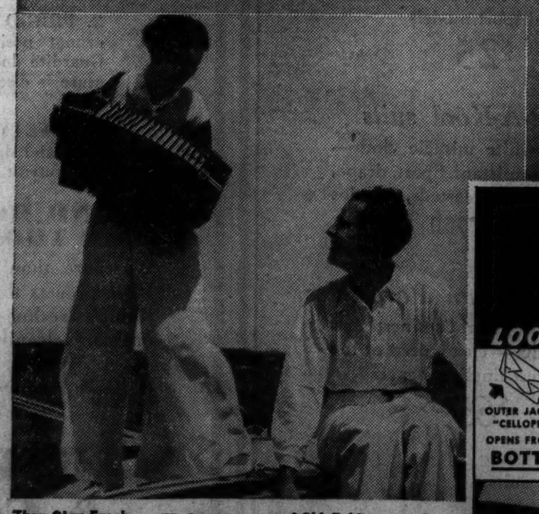
It's swell to know, after a long day of hiking, that the Old Gold you light will be fresh as a daisy. It's the one cigarette we've found that doesn't go stale and get on the nerves.
Howard A. White (Editor) and J. Bohannan (writer), Columbus, O.

A "one brand cigarette" girl... I really didn't believe that an extra jacket of Cellophane could make me a "one brand cigarette" girl, but Old Golds are so fresh and delightful I've been won completely. They're a joy to smoke.
Mrs. Earl J. Neff (jewelry designer) Cleveland, Ohio



They Stay Fresh... We keep a carton of Old Golds on our boat, and the last pack is always as fresh and delicious as the first, thanks to your double Cellophane wrapping. Their freshness, we think, makes Old Golds more wholesome.
Frank Hovey Smith, New Haven Yacht Club, New Haven, Conn.

Seashore-proof... that's what we've found Old Golds to be! That double Cellophane wrapping keeps Old Golds fresh and untouched by the dampness that makes other cigarettes soggy and unfit to smoke. Fresh Double-Mellow Old Golds are our choice!
Mrs. Marion C. De Freest (Registered Nurse), Atlantic City, N. J.

YOU CAN'T BUY A STALE OLD GOLD

FINE TOBACCOS are like star athletes. When they go stale . . . both fail to deliver top performances.

And it takes so little to spoil a cigarette's condition! A slight change in weather, an overlong wait on a dealer's counter! Then dampness, dust and dryness get in their work. Flavor and aroma disappear. Tongue-bite and throat-irritation creep in. The cigarette neither tastes good nor is good for you!

That is why the initial freshness of the rare prize crop tobaccos, blended into every Double-Mellow Old Gold, is safeguarded by a special weather-tight package. Two jackets (instead of one) of finest moisture-proof Cellophane keep this package weather-tight.

Thus, every Old Gold cigarette reaches your lips as fresh as the minute it was rolled. Rich in flavor. Mild and mellow. Cool and soothing to your throat.

To keep in condition yourself . . . smoke cigarettes that are always in smoking condition. Smoke FRESH Old Golds!

GERMANS WEEP AS PASTORS CITE RELIGIOUS WOES

Names of Victims of Nazis Read at Services.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 20.—Moving scenes were witnessed in Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] churches today. Recent measures taken against Protestant leaders who are fighting for freedom of creed, were announced in detail. Names of 26 pastors and lay members of the Confessional movement who are in custody of the police were read as well as the names of 24 pastors who have been expelled from their parishes and 18 others who have been forbidden to preach.

When the officiating pastor, the Rev. Mr. Hildebrandt, left for the vestry in the church at Dahlem, a suburb of Berlin, the congregation rose spontaneously and sang Luther's hymn, "A Strong Citadel Is Our God." Many were in tears.

Action Against Pastors Hinted.

The declaration was read from Confessional pulpits throughout the Prussian Union. It referred to the sealing of offices of the Prussian Confessional council, confiscation of documents, arrests, expulsions and bans against preaching. It said the events had crippled the work of church leadership.

"We declare our brothers so dealt with acted in the execution of their church tasks," added the statement. "They have neither encroached upon the political sphere nor trespassed against state law. We affirm that these GSP [secret police] measures strongly conflict with the synod election decree of Feb. 15, repeating Der Fuehrer's [Adolf Hitler's] guarantees that the state and Nazi party would not encroach on the life and evangelizing work of the church and the freedom of the elections."

Quiz Theologian's Wife.

Frau Assmussen, wife of the well known Confessional theologian who drafted the Calvinist-Lutheran agreement on joint communion—an agreement adopted by the Halle synod of the Prussian Confessional council—was taken to police headquarters. There she was interrogated and asked about the whereabouts of her husband. She was later released.

Her husband as well as other members of the Prussian Confessional council, who have not been arrested, are being sought by the police because the council adopted resolutions to defy the decree forbidding the reading from pulpits of names of persons seceding from the church.

By mere chance the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, Confessional leader and U-boat captain during the war, was absent from the meeting of the council which voted to defy the decree. Preaching at Dahlem last night, Niemoeller called out two names—those of a man and woman—who had renounced church membership.

Defy Nazi Decree.

Despite a recent decree banning special church collections, a collection was taken up in behalf of relatives and dependants of Confessional pastors who are under arrest or are suffering from disciplinary measures.

Confessional circles fear an attempt to rush the election of the new church synod will be made next Sunday. Consequently, special services will be held at 8 a. m. to prevent Confessional members from being taken by surprise.

ON TRIAL TODAY

Emil Trimarco (top) and Harold Julian, scheduled to go on trial today in Criminal court for slaying grocer.

The trial of two youths charged with murdering a grocer to get money for a dance is expected to start today before Judge Peter Schwaba in the Criminal court. The youths are Harold Julian, 18 years old, and Emil Trimarco, 19. They shot and killed Frank Panfil in his store at 3756 Irving Park boulevard on April 11. Trimarco, who was paroled from Pontiac reformatory last December, was named as the actual slayer. He told prosecutors he wanted to be sent to the electric chair. They will try to gratify his wish, they said last night, by qualifying the jury for the death penalty.

Youth to Go on Trial Today for Burning Voliva Temple

Thomas Griffith, 19 years old, who confessed setting the fire which destroyed Wilbur Glenn Voliva's Shiloh tabernacle at Zion on April 2, is to go on trial before a jury today in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan. He is charged with malicious burning, for which the sentence is one to ten years in prison. Griffith gave fancied wrongs to his foster parents by Voliva as his reason for the deed.

NEW BILL PUTS U. S. RELIEF COST AT 14 BILLIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 20.—[Special.]—The 1 billion 500 million dollar relief bill, a storm center of controversy on which Democratic party lines have crumbled in the house and senate, may be in the White House tomorrow night.

The measure will raise the total of relief appropriations of the Roosevelt administration to 14 billion 268 million dollars.

The measure had a stormy career in the house. Only after personal intervention of President Roosevelt were the leaders able to pass the measure in the form demanded by the administration. Wounds of the legislative strife have not yet healed and to the bill must be attributed a good share of the breach between house Democrats and the White House.

In the senate there have been four days of heated debate over the measure. The senate battle has been featured by the first break of Senate Majority Leader Joseph Robinson with his party's leader. The senator offered an amendment which would require local governments to put up 25 per cent of the cost of projects.

NAZIS AIM TO GET MORE TO EAT BY POOLING FARMS

BERLIN, June 20.—(AP)—Millions of German farms will change hands, it was estimated tonight, through a nation-wide redistribution program designed to increase the country's food producing efficiency. Further details of the program were outlined in a 20 page decree published in newspapers today. It becomes effective Jan. 1.

The vast project includes reclamation and land levy—somewhat similar to capital levy—provisions by which hundreds of thousands of Germans now without land will get farms.

The basic idea of the program as disclosed in the decree is the pooling of all land into districts of convenient size, after which the districts will be redivided into individual farms.

About 4,000,000 farmers and settlers are involved, with an aggregate of 50,000,000 acres of agricultural lands technically subject to modification or change of ownership.

STOP WASTING MONEY... GET A TRUCK THAT'S POWERED FOR YOUR JOB

Hauling economy is largely a matter of power. A truck that gives you the right amount of power for one job may be under-powered or over-powered for another job. When a truck is under-powered, it cannot be economical, because it cannot handle your loads without excessive gas-wasting low-gear operation. More trips may be required to haul your loads. On the other hand, in an over-powered truck you pay for power you do not need. Gas costs are higher. Over-all cost is high.

REBELS PURSUE LOYALISTS; FEED BILBAO'S HUNGRY

Santander Goal of Drive West Along Coast.

BILBAO, Spain, June 20.—(AP)—Thousands of rebel troops today poured through captured Bilbao, over improvised bridges across the Nervion river and into the hills to the west of the way toward Santander, forty-five miles away.

The rebel command devoted the day to the twin problems of feeding 300,000 hungry survivors of the three months siege and pressing the pursuit of the Basque and Asturian forces.

Ships Bring Food to Bilbao.

Five ships were reported bringing food to Bilbao from San Sebastian, rebel held port to the east, while almost every other army truck on the roads was jammed with a chaotic mixture of soldiers, guns, returning refugees and piles of plain white bread. The city also lacked water the last four days of the siege. Oxcarts and herds of sheep and cattle driven by homeward bound refugees added to the picturesque confusion of the roads.

Streets were littered with debris and broken glass, the result of the terrific explosions when the retreating defenders blew up the city's eight bridges simultaneously before dawn Saturday.

Barges lashed side by side formed footbridges across the Nervion for the passage of Gen. Francisco Franco's victorious troops, moving on to Santander, the last important stronghold of the government on the north coast since Bilbao fell. Bilbao's rich iron mines and foundries are now in the hands of the rebels.

Water Supply Scarce.

The water shortage speeded the westward movement. Bilbao's main water supply was cut off by broken conduits, and most of the breaks re in territory still held by the government forces in Santander province. That district must be captured before water is plentiful again for Bilbao.

Some 200 Basque militiamen who did a heroic job restoring order early Saturday morning and driving out the few remaining Asturian miners already were enrolled in the rebel armies.

Flay Italy and Germany.

VALENCIA, Spain, June 20.—(AP)—Official Spanish government circles today attributed the fall of Bilbao to a concentration of German and Italian forces and materials on the northern front. Newspapers published appeals for avenging "the sufferings inflicted" on the Basques.

ATHLETE LOSES RACE, HIS BREATH AND HIS LIBERTY

Sergt. William [Bill] Haas, of the Town Hall station, is 56 years old, and not as sprightly as he used to be. Leonard Haynes is 27 years old and a former track champion for a Terre Haute, Ind. athletic club. But Haas outsprinted him last night in a three-quarter mile dash in Broadway, and as a result Haynes is being held as a burglar. Haas pursued Haynes as the latter left a rooming house at 4518 North Racine avenue carrying three suits of clothes which the rooming house owner said belonged to another man. The chase took place during the rainstorm.

POPE PRESIDES AT URGENT AND SECRET PARLEY

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, June 20.—(AP)—Pope Pius in an unusual action today presided over a meeting of the congregation for extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs which, it was believed, dealt with urgent problems affecting Germany and Spain.

Informed prelates believed only such events as have transpired recently in those two countries could have prompted the pontiff's attendance, but complete secrecy was maintained.

The fact that the meeting was held on Sunday, which church officials regularly reserve for devotional activities, further indicated it was of urgent nature.

FRANCO THANKS IL DUCE FOR HIS FAITH IN REBELS

ROME, June 20.—(AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini today received from the Spanish rebel leader, Gen. Fransisco Franco, a telegram announcing the capture of Bilbao and expressing pride that his rebel army had justified the confidence placed in it by Italy.

"In the moment in which the Nationalist [rebel] troops are entering victorious into Bilbao," the telegram said, "I send you, together with my own salute, the most enthusiastic salute of this army, which is proud to have justified the confidence placed in it by your great people and its duce.

"I ask that in giving news of this success to the emperor [King Victor Emmanuel] you extend to him the best wishes of the Spanish people and of Gen. Franco."

FISH HOOK COSTS EYE.

Joliet, Ill., June 20.—(AP)—Dr. Harry Woodruff said today that Bayard Scotland, macaroni manufacturer, would lose the sight of his right eye, pierced by a fish hook yesterday.

BILBAO CHILDREN SLIP AWAY FROM CAMP IN ENGLAND

NORTH STONEHALL, England, June 20.—(AP)—Groups of Basque children refugees, griefstricken and fearful of their parents' fate in Bilbao, continued to break away from their camp here today.

Some fled in groups of ten or twenty. They began slipping away yesterday when they heard the rebels had captured their city. A Basque dance festival scheduled for this afternoon was canceled. Many of those who stayed in the camp spent the day sobbing in their tents; last night they cried themselves to sleep.

Some teachers collapsed under the strain. Officials assured the children their families probably reached safety in Santander, but that failed to console them.

TRADES SHOTS WITH LOITERERS.

Norman Ragland, 2314 Cottage Grove avenue, a watchman, reported to the Des Plaines street police that he exchanged shots early yesterday with three men loitering at the rear of a factory at 159 North Racine avenue.

A COMPROMISE ON DRIVERS' LICENSES.

A joint committee of five state senators and five representatives is to meet early this week in an effort to compromise the differences between the two houses over the drivers' license bill.

There is full agreement on the need for licensing drivers. The question at issue is the minor one of who shall administer the act. The house favors the governor and the senate favors the secretary of state.

This session of the legislature must adjourn on June 30. That leaves hardly more than a week in which to enact a law which substantially every one in Illinois favors. Automobiles are killing a thousand citizens in Cook county alone each year and maiming 30,000 others, and the toll continues to rise. Inspection of automobiles for mechanical defects has failed to reduce the slaughter. The dangerous automobile has been pretty well eliminated, but there is no effective means at present of eliminating the dangerous, risk taking driver.

That is the objective of the drivers' license. It offers the only hope of immediate reduction in the death toll. In the circumstances no man of conscience in the legislature can permit a pettifogging quarrel over patronage to block passage of a licensing measure.

Fortunately, the deadlock can be broken without loss of face on either side. A bill can be passed which will make the issuance of licenses a mere matter of routine to be handled by a few clerks.

If licenses are issued merely on application the principal benefit of the licensing system will be obtained. If every driver knows that his right to sit behind the wheel is subject to revocation by direct and speedy action of the courts he will exercise a good deal more caution than many now do when the only penalty for most offenses is a fine of a few dollars.

The members of the two houses should find no great difficulty in agreeing on a law which will require every one who drives a car to be licensed and fix the terms on which judges may order the licenses of offending motorists revoked. If such a system does not achieve all the results desired subsequent sessions of the legislature can add new requirements and determine which official of the government should administer them. The present assembly will have earned the gratitude of the people of Illinois if it does no more than get a licensing system started.

COURTS OR PAROLE BOARDS.

The Ward-Schnackenberg bill to vest in trial judges authority to fix minimum and maximum terms for felonies under the indeterminate sentence act was passed by the assembly after full discussion. It was framed by a committee of citizens of which Mr. Frank Loesch was chairman and represents the considered judgment of men who have observed crime conditions and the operations of the parole system in Illinois for many years. Its course through the legislature was directed by two of the ablest members of that body, Senator Harold Ward and Representative Elmer Schnackenberg, and its support was drawn from both parties. It represents a widespread dissatisfaction with the actual workings of parole under the existing system and a rational demand that some check be put upon the present authority of parole boards.

The gist of the controversy which has lately transpired over this measure is whether the fixing of the minimum and maximum limits of sentences in felonies shall remain with parole boards or be consigned to the discretion of the judges who have presided over the trials of the offenders. It is alleged by opponents of the bill that if this authority is vested in the judiciary all the benefits supposed to flow from the elasticity of the indeterminate sentence will be lost. The public, which is repeatedly shocked and alarmed by vicious crimes committed by offenders who have been released by parole boards, will be little impressed by this objection.

Probation and parole have become the two chief assets of organized and professional crime, Mr. Hinton Clabaugh said the other day. Whatever their theoretical possibilities, until these are in sight they should be restricted in the interest of public safety. They have seriously weakened the fear of law among the criminally disposed. It is time to restore the authority of courts.

DANGEROUS HASTE.

It is always unfortunate that bills considered by the legislature must be couched in legal terms. Lawyers and lawmakers understand the phrases but have only theories of the effect. The public grasps their practical meaning frequently only after passage. Then it learns to its sorrow that some destructive restriction "is the law of the state." Such a bill is the Illinois motor carrier act. The newspapers, the only public safeguard, have had neither the time nor the space to thoroughly analyze all the provisions of this omnibus measure.

The whole thing has been submitted to the legislature on the theory that, as interstate trucking is regulated, intrastate highway activities should have the same supervision. The fact of the matter is that the intrastate variety is not working according to blueprints and it would be far better policy for the state to withhold action to see whether the national legislation must be substantially revised.

Aside from this larger question, has the public considered the effect on local transfers? Sixty per cent of state truckers are nothing but local draymen. Can they live under a law which stratifies their charges in the same manner as street car fares or railway rates? Will it always be reasonable to make the same mileage charges in Cook county as in Jefferson county? Under the provisions of the new measure only local truckers may make store door deliveries. If an operator uses the state highways he must deliver his goods to some freight shed for rehandling by a local company. It also works in the reverse direction to curb the hinterland of the local drayman. Can this fail to raise costs and rates?

The senate has passed the measure, but the house should halt it. Its provisions and restrictions are far too sweeping and revolutionary for the small amount of study and publicity it has been given.

THE NEXT GREAT WAR MAY BE SOON.

Germany has the equivalent of an exploitable border incident to take up with Czechoslovakia. The border incident in war diplomacy is usually an outrage committed by a small state against a powerful one. German opinion is being whipped into high indignation over a report that Bruno Weigel, deputy leader of the Nazi Relief society in Prague, was tortured in prison. He is a German citizen. "Prague must realize that such an outrage cannot be made good by a mere diplomatic apology," is one Berlin editorial comment.

There is editorial insistence that the Prague officials responsible must be punished. "If the Czech government refuses to do this, then Germany must seriously consider making a clear example of what is law in international life."

Czechoslovakia, the best administered, best governed, most democratic, and most hopeful of the succession states, is in the greatest danger. It lies between Germany and the coveted Ukraine. The Ukraine has always been a restless sister in the Union of Soviet Republics and recently Stalin extended his purge to include nearly all its commissars, the chief of whom committed suicide. Hitler's intent to have a usable quarrel with Czechoslovakia has been apparent for a long time.

The development of provocative incidents is well known as a part of the art of justifying an attack, especially on a nation rated as of inferior military strength. An aggressive power seldom says to its victim that it wants its land. It rather seeks to promote a series of incidents and outrages which will seem to justify, and seldom do, an armed swoop on the victim.

In the present world situation even the imagination has a place in an attempt to forecast events of the most serious nature. We know that Italy and Germany, the great Fascist countries, are fighting it out with Russia in Spain. We know that Germany and Japan have an alliance which they call defensive against Russia. We know that the Russian conspirators who, whether their confessions were false or true, are being executed by Stalin, said that the plot was to give the Ukraine to Germany and Sakhalin Island and the Amur valley to Japan.

The extremes to which the two great covetous and vainglorious Fascist chiefs will go to gain prestige and resources with a coerced and disciplined people behind them are unknowable. Certainly it can be assumed that no war would be avoided if the objectives were tempting enough.

Hitler has openly expressed his desire to have and utilize the Ukraine. Stalin is exterminating his so-called opponents and seems to have the Russian army in a state of demoralization. At least it would be improbable that so many marshals and generals could be executed and such suspicion engendered in the army itself without bringing about a condition of general fear and unrest which would seriously impair the defenses of the soviet republics.

Japan, Italy, and Germany are sworn allied enemies against communism. That they have considered taking advantage of any weakened position in which they could find Stalin seems an irresistible deduction from what is known of their actions.

If Franco with their aid should win the fight in Spain, the further direction their exaltation over a victory would carry them is a matter of surmise. Certainly Stalin is giving evidences that Russia is in a state of great disorder, if not wrenched to the foundations with conspiracies and attempts to overthrow him.

If Blum's government in France with its radical, socialist, and communist elements should be overthrown and succeeded by an extreme right if not Fascist control, Hitler's holy war against communism might be on its way. His slogan would be that it was a war for the liberation of the world from the Red menace. We do not know how far his inspirational crusading instinct would carry the self-hypnotized man.

These are days in which we dismiss nothing, even of the immediate future, as impossible. If Czechoslovakia should become another Belgium in the way of a marching army, the sacrifice of that sober, democratic enterprise would be another tragedy in the history of reckless ambitions.

Editorial of the Day

NO RECOURSE.

[Grand Rapids Press.]

The old army custom of reviling the reveille and the bugler who toots his horn so insistently, mercilessly murdering sleep, is about to draw to a close. The United States army has introduced a loud speaker which will play at dawn the unwelcome call from slumber—by electrical transcription. The broadcast call already is in a few camps. It hasn't been adopted by all of them, but probably will be soon.

This innovation is one of the sorrows of progress. Why, it's getting so a man can't have a healthy hate any more. There was something in growling at the bugler that compensated for his rude awakening blast and for other trials and harassments of army life. But what will a buck private, already forced to lead a submissive and unrebellious life, have the privilege of railing against, now that the bugler is about to disappear?

There have been instances of aggrieved persons who, while listening to the radio especially during political campaigns, were moved to wrench out the loud speaker to still the hated voice. But such embittered spirits are not normal and fortunately few in number. And of course the buck private will not be able to avail himself of even this somewhat pointless expression of spite.

WHY GRANDMAW WENT HOME.

Grandmaw, a quaint old cuss, was as near-sighted as all get out. She always spurned salt shakers and instead kept on her table a small white earthen bowl filled with salt. When Grandmaw wanted a pinch of salt she wanted a pinch. . . . It happened during one of her rare visits to our house. In front of Grandmaw was a small white earthen bowl and when she felt the urge for salt coming on she stuck her right hand, clear up to her wrist, in the cottage cheese. Busy Signal.

AFTER HEAVY RAIN.

What shall I say who prayed for rain last year?
I saw the burning suns take heavy toll,
But now I feel that ancient weather fear
Come up and surge and pulse within my soul.
The heavy rains are leaving scars; my fields
Are beaten by the showers overmuch:
How is the man who covets heavy yields
To cling to faith and hope and trust and such?
Oh, why should I be weak because the south
Reveals a thunderhead which grows and grows?
There always has been food to fill my mouth—
There always has been harvest and God knows
Why one should grumble, but so much depends
On how the season starts and how it ends.

VALUATION OF SALVATION.

There were two churches in Hometown, and Dopey Craggs, reputedly the richest and most grasping farmer in the county, was for many years a member of First church. He attended services every Sunday and considered he had done his full duty when he dropped a dime in the collection box. . . . When a young and active minister decided to build a new church he made out a list of parishioners and set down the amount each should contribute. Dopey's assessment was $500 and when the minister told him he ballooned. . . . "Before I give you $500," he said, "I'll join the Second church and go to hell." . . . It is certain that he joined Second church.

"BLUE MONDAYS" AND BENZEDRINE.

TWO or three years ago a new drug, benzedrine—with a long chemical name [beta-phenyl-iso-propylamine]—was recommended in the treatment of narcolepsy, that type of irresistible sleep which comes on sometimes with but little warning. It was found to be more satisfactory than anything previously employed and its success has led to intensive studies as to just how the body behaves when it is resorted to.

In many respects it is similar in its action to adrenalin—one of the secretions prepared from adrenal glands—which is so valuable in raising blood pressure temporarily and in constricting capillaries. For this reason it should never be prescribed for those patients whose pressure levels are already high. In fact, it is not safe if heart or blood vessel disease is present in any form.

More recently the compound has been advocated for its psychological effects inasmuch as it apparently is capable of reëstablishing confidence and mental alertness.

Recent studies in a London hospital indicate that the amount of restlessness which attends its use is largely a matter of individual response. There is a definite tendency to become talkative—as though one's tongue were hung in the middle. Occasionally those taking it will complain of dizziness, palpitation, tremor, or nausea, but as a rule these symptoms pass rather quickly, particularly if the material is given on an empty stomach.

Now that we have mentioned certain precautions, what is the merit of benzedrine? Its influence on mental fatigue is pronounced. Physicians who have taken it experimentally have reported that it will induce a definite sense of wellbeing, even at the end of a busy day when weariness should be marked. Because of its stimulating properties, however, rest will be disturbed. The patient will have difficulty not only in getting to sleep but may rouse up two or three times during the night and be unable to regain slumber. Others will waken early in the morning long before the usual hour.

Its most important rôle probably will lie with those mild depressions which attack many patients periodically—the one, two, or three blue days that come now and then. With these individuals the results are surprisingly helpful. On the other hand, severe depressions are not influenced in the slightest degree even though the dose is pushed to the limit of safety. In a few instances, however, at first there may be a slight improvement, but with the ensuing relapse the sufferer may be carried further down the hill.

States of anxiety in which the patient is nervous, the victim of palpitation, tremors, etc., are not relieved and in dementia precox little may be expected. Stupor or coma arising from an organic cause is not changed.

It may be said, however, that benzedrine in small doses will undoubtedly come into use as a psychological stimulant. The effects of a single administration will last from four to eight hours. When taken continuously—that is, daily—many observers report that it loses its beneficial force, at the same time increasing irritability.

The question also presents itself, "Is it a habit forming drug?" Probably the consequences, which are anything but pleasant [sleeplessness, etc.], will serve to erect a bulwark against its routine employment. Nevertheless, its medicinal powers have not been tested a sufficient length of time to determine whether or not a true addiction may be established, such as that which accompanies opium or any of its derivatives.

It is but the better part of wisdom to assume that the chemical should not be taken by any one unless he is under the watchful eye of a competent physician. Some of us may recall the disastrous aftermath incident to the use of dinitrophenol which but a short time ago was so highly vaunted as the ideal fat reducing compound.

SYPHILIS.

Mrs. L. E. writes: 1. What is syphilis? 2. What are the symptoms? 3. How do people get this dread disease? 4. Is it hereditary? 5. Can a person having syphilis be entirely cured?

REPLY.

1. Syphilis is an infectious venereal disease.

2. After an incubation period of 12-20 days, there appears at the point of infection the characteristic chancre [red papula which enlarges, breaks down, and forms an ulcer with a hard base]. The lesion usually heals without treatment. The glands in the corresponding lymph field are enlarged, hard, and shotty, but do not suppurate unless there is a mixed infection. There may be slight fever. A skin eruption constitutes the second stage, which comes on within 12 weeks after the appearance of the primary sore. There may be malaise and fever. The third stage is marked by the formation of gummata, which may follow the second stage or be postponed for many years. Any organ in the body may be affected, and the nervous system may be involved early.

3. The disease is acquired through sexual contact with an infected person and through the medium of contaminated articles.

4. It is not hereditary but may be congenital—that is, acquired during the process of birth. Congenital syphilitics have symptoms which differ from those suffering from the acquired form.

5. Yes, with skilled and persistent treatment.

FALLEN ARCHES.

M. O. C. writes: I am a man 45 years old and have a bad case of fallen arches. Could I have them reset?

REPLY.

Not reset but supported. First of all, secure proper shoes, which should be built on a straight last, with a round toe, medium width shank, and heels of moderate height. Into the shoe there should be inserted pads properly shaped and beveled to sustain the depressed bones. Exercises and massage will strengthen the muscles of the foot.

EXERCISES MAY HELP.

J. S. writes: I am 18 years old and have a deformed chest. The docter says it is due to rickets. Is there a cure for this? Would exercise help?

REPLY.

There is not much that can be done now. The time to cure rickets is during childhood. Special exercises for the chest and shoulders may help by giving you a better carriage.

From Across the Sea

BY W. A. O'CARROLL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia.—The Australian government is considering the advisability of applying a check to alien immigration and that of Italian immigration in particular. An economist has announced that in a hundred years or so the nationality of Australia probably will be southern European.

One has only to consider the immigration figures, together with the natural increase of the foreign born, as compared with Australia's own natural increase, to realize that this possibility is worthy of consideration said the economist.

At the present moment a large proportion of the food supply of Sydney is controled by the southern European element. The Chinese market gardener rapidly is being supplanted by the Italian. In the last two years curb selling outside the Sydney city markets has become an Italian monopoly. The Italian also is appearing as a selling agent in the vegetable and fruit markets.

The foreign section of the community controls the fish market and the Sydney harbor fishing grounds apparently are an Italian monopoly That they control the retail fruit trade is due partly to the fact that about 90 per cent of the Australians prefer to deal with them in preference to their own countrymen. As a matter of fact Australians have proved themselves unfit for the job

However, government house and the officers' messes of the naval squadron are still buying their supplies from Italian shops.

Some persons have expressed indignation over farm land transactions in the irrigated area in the back country. There is no need to go so far away. Foreign born farmers already are appearing on foreclosed properties much nearer to Sydney.

RIGHT TO PROPERTY.

Louisville, Ky., June 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am writing in regard to some property owned by my brother who is deceased. My mother [who is also deceased] made the down payment and also paid for the city improvements on this property for my brother. The widow of my brother has remarried. The property still remains in the name of my brother and his widow—they owned it jointly. There are no children.

1. Would we, the sisters of the deceased brother, have any claim on this property should we survive the wife? Would the present husband have any claim on it should he survive her? At the time of my brother's death the property was not entirely paid for but he left enough insurance to finish paying for it. We are just asking if we would have any claim on his part. My father is also deceased and four sisters are the nearest kin.

D. E. T.

1. Not unless you could satisfy a court that they held in trust for your mother during her lifetime. If, as seems more probable, she intended a gift to her son and the property has gone to his widow as surviving joint tenant, then it would go to the widow's heirs on her death.

JUDGMENT NOTE.

Chicago, June 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I hold judgment note signed by party who is a resident of California. Said note is dated March, 1932, and bears endorsement over my signature only as follows: "Note extended to March, 1935, without payment of interest."

1. Is this note outlawed account of limitation of time under California laws?

2. Could I take judgment in Cook county and levy on his California property through transfer of judgment? Party signing note is at present in insane asylum in California. Would this interfere with collection? W. O. H.

1. If the note is barred by the law of the state in which it was executed, then it would be barred everywhere. You do not tell us where it was executed. The California limitation period is four years and the Illinois period is ten years, both from the maturity date.

2. Depends on facts that are not before us. We suggest that you place the instrument in the hands of an attorney for collection.

THE AIMS OF C. I. O.

Chicago, June 16.—As one of those who has come to grips several times during the last six months with this C. I. O. movement, I am prepared to say without qualification that it is no longer, if it ever was, an economic movement designed to assist the wage earners; it is in every sense a political movement. Every known communist, most of whom have been expelled from the American Federation of Labor during the last twenty years, has affiliated with the C. I. O., and in keeping with their philosophy they are not attempting to preserve industrial peace because they thrive on industrial unrest; an agreement with them on wages, hours, etc., is of no value; witness the deplorable condition throughout the plants of the General Motors and the Chrysler corporation.

The agreements which they are making are of no value to the wage earners, hence the general unrest among the workers in these plants. The agreements are signed for but one purpose, that is to give the communist crowd a strangle hold on large groups of wage earners.

I have in my possession a copy of the agreement signed between the United States Steel corporation and the C. I. O. This alleged agreement does not contain one single word designed to improve the conditions of the steel workers, but simply gives standing to the long established practices of labor relations of the United States Steel corporation.

I am of the opinion that if some of these facts were made plain to the public at large that it would go a long way toward dispelling the atmosphere of grandeur which many humble wage earners entertain regarding Lewis and his movement.

Regardless of the mistakes of the American Federation of Labor and despite the fact that there have been times when a few of its officials have been faithless to their trust, yet the fact remains that it is an American institution devoted to the cause of Americanism and all that the term implies.

You might also be interested to know that while the C. I. O. has been blazed on the front pages of all our newspapers the fact remains that the American Federation of Labor, through its quiet but effective coöperation with industry, has been able to increase its membership far more substantially than the C. I. O., despite reports to the contrary. It is a different thing for a man to pay ten, twenty, thirty, or even fifty dollars to join an A. F. of L. organization than it is to simply sign up a blank card authorizing the C. I. O. to represent him, but accompanying the application with no payment.

Perhaps another good feature of this upheaval lies in the fact that it has driven the A. F. of L. organizations and large numbers of employers into a closer relationship, so that more genuine coöperation will exist in the future on both sides. LABOR.

SPORTSMANSHIP.

Chicago, June 17.—The Louis-Braddock bout is a direct blow to good sportamanship. It is a disgusting example, on the part of the promoters involved, of a love for money at the expense of one of the finest qualities of Americanism. By denying Schmeling the right to fight Braddock they are defeating their very purpose. For the one big gate that they will get for this bout they are sacrificing the interest of Americans who love good sportsmanship. A few more raw deals such as this and the United States will no longer be the boxing capital of the world. ALBERT J. PUGNER.

GOLD COINS WITHOUT THE MOTTO.

Evanston, Ill., June 18.—How did it happen that the United States in 1861 minted five dollar coins [gold] without "In God We Trust"? I saw one the other day and noted the absence of that term, which I thought was on all our coins. ANXIOUS.

MANY HOPE NOT.

Chicago, June 18.—Now that Smitty has graduated to longies, how about Herby investing in a pair of knickers? Will he never grow up?

AVALANCHE KILLS 16 CLIMBERS OF HIMALAYAN PEAK

7 Germans and 9 Porters Buried in Slide.

SIMLA, India, June 20.—(AP)—Sixteen members of a German Himalayan expedition have been killed by an avalanche, the British political agent at Gilgit, Northern Kashmir, reported today.

Arrow points to peak where avalanche killed sixteen mountain climbers.

Seven Germans and nine Gurkha porters were overwhelmed in a huge slide, the agent reported. They were members of an expedition that reached India early in May to attempt the ascent of Mount Nanga Parbat, 26,629 foot peak in the Western Himalayas.

The British agent left Gilgit for the scene of the disaster, presumably on or near Mount Nanga Parbat.

The expedition's leader, Dr. Karl Win, professor of geography at Munich university, escaped.

Mount Nanga Parbat, highest peak in the British empire, had defied all attempts to reach its summit.

In July, 1934, a group led by Willy Merkl, celebrated mountain climber, disappeared on the slopes of the mountain. The bodies of two, Ulrich Wieland and Dr. Wilzenbach, were discovered later.

SELF-INFLICTED WOUND FATAL TO YOUNG MOTHER

Mrs. Louise Aevermann, 30 years old, 1315 North Central avenue, mother of two children, died yesterday of a self-inflicted bullet wound in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Lemke, 2217 North Mango avenue.

Mrs. Aevermann, wife of Archibald Aevermann, a florist, gave birth to a boy in St. Anne's hospital on April 16. She already had a son, Ronald, 4 years old. Soon after she returned home with her new baby she disappeared, but returned less than 48 hours later. Next day she shot herself below the heart.

She was taken to West Suburban hospital in Oak Park, but was removed a week ago to the home of her parents. Two blood transfusions were given in an effort to save her.

Where Goods Flow Faster

The United Parcel Service delivers for 360 New York City stores. They tell us that January-through-May package deliveries in the New York area jumped 8.4% ahead of 1936.

In this same period, the Herald Tribune gained 20% in department store advertising. It was a gain of 284,861 lines. It was a greater gain than that of any other New York newspaper. It was built up by gains from more Manhattan stores than any other newspaper. It was almost three times as large as the net increase in department store linage of all 8 other New York newspapers combined.

There is a good deal more than coincidence in the fact that while New York has been buying more goods New York department stores have given the Herald Tribune a bigger part in selling those extra goods.

There is the compelling fact that when advertisers—like department store advertisers—must have instant action on their advertising, there is a decided advantage in concentrating on New York's pre-shrunk market, the readers who have the means as well as the mind to buy now.

NAME WINNERS IN ROOSEVELT PUZZLE CONTEST

Wm. Lanfer of Grand Rapids Takes $1,000 Prize.

Winners in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S $5,000 Theodore Roosevelt crossword puzzles contest are announced today.

The first prize of $1,000 was won by William Lanfer of 12 Michigan street, N. E., Grand Rapids, Mich. The second prize, amounting to $500, went to Ivan Tobin of 2210 Roscoe street, Chicago, and the third prize of $250 was awarded to Mrs. Paul L. Smoot of 513 Grant avenue, Joliet, Ill.

There are 427 other cash prize winners from villages, towns, and cities in almost every state of the union, and even neighboring foreign countries.

Voice Esteem for T. R.

The contest ran for forty-two week days. In each crossword puzzle certain last words identified with the biography of Theodore Roosevelt had to be filled in as designated in the puzzle definitions. Each contestant, in addition to furnishing correct solutions of the puzzles, was required to submit a letter of 100 words or less on an interesting phase in the life of the former President.

The letters proved highly interesting, and revealed the popular esteem in which he was held. Three phases of his life that appealed to the contestants was the building of the Panama canal, the fleet's trip around the world in 1907, and his winning of the Nobel peace prize.

DO YOU DESERVE LOWER Car Insurance Costs?

How American Auto may save you up to 25% in premiums

■ The careful driver—the motorist whose car is used largely for private and family purposes—should not have to share the cost of insuring reckless and irresponsible drivers. For more than twenty-five years American Auto has made a practice of favoring those drivers who may be considered preferred risks. It therefore has fewer claims to pay, and is able to operate with greater economy. These savings are passed on to policyholders in the form of lower premium rates.

American Auto is a countrywide organization. Its dependable protective service travels with you throughout the United States and Canada.

Before you buy or renew any automobile insurance, call your nearest American Auto Agent or Broker for full information about the important advantages he has to offer you.

ASSETS MORE THAN $18,000,000 • SURPLUS TO POLICYHOLDERS MORE THAN $8,000,000

Protect Your Insurance Investment by Dealing Through Accredited Agents or Brokers

Don't be misled by the suggestion that you can save in dealing direct with the kind of a company that has no local Agents. Buy only from an accredited Agent or Broker if you would invest in protection that really protects. The competent advice and personal services of your local Agent or Broker are invaluable safeguards to your best interests. He is able to prescribe insurance . . . Stock Insurance, of course . . . "tailored" to your particular needs. American Auto deals only through these accredited representatives, offering you unexcelled protection and service at fair, reasonable cost

NATION'S RADIO LEADERS MEET IN CHICAGO TODAY

Broadcasters Heartened by Roosevelt Note.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The nation's radio leaders—about 1,000 of them—are converging on Chicago today for the fifteenth annual National Association of Broadcasters convention opening at the Hotel Sherman this morning and continuing through Wednesday. The broadcasters were heartened by a letter from President Roosevelt in which he stated that there are no problems in radio that cannot be solved "by intelligent management, good programing, and awareness of public responsibility." This was interpreted in many quarters as assurance that the administration means to lay no further hands on private enterprise—or at least not immediately.

Lillian Modery inspects largest radio tube.

Following an address of welcome by Mayor Kelly the broadcasters will hear Eugene O. Sykes, chairman of the federal communications commission broadcast division, discuss "The Duty and Responsibility of the Broadcaster."

Election of officers is scheduled for tomorrow. The sessions will close with a banquet Wednesday evening.

Glenn Snyder of WLS, president of the Chicago Broadcasters' association, is in charge of entertainment for the convention which included a golf tournament yesterday, a style show for visiting women at Marshall Field's tomorrow afternoon, and a show following the banquet on Wednesday.

Chicago network and studio executives have issued invitations to the broadcasters to inspect their plants. W-G-N is inviting the conventioneers to view public broadcasts in its big No. 1 studio. The World Broadcasting system is holding open house at its new $250,000 plant on Erie street. NBC is giving a cocktail party preceding the banquet Wednesday evening, and Mutual a breakfast this morning for the press.

An NBC mobile broadcasting unit and a Chicago police car will engage in a "running" debate on safety in a Chicago safety council test to be aired over WMAQ at 3:15 p. m. today. The mobile unit, with Norman Barry aboard, will observe every possible safety precaution; the police will cut all corners they legally can, run stop lights, and speed from Madison and Austin to the Civic Opera building. The broadcast is designed to show that hurried driving to the loop doesn't save enough time to make it worth while.

Franklin Fort.

East Orange, N. J., June 20.—(AP)—Former Republican Congressman Franklin W. Fort, who died today in Rochester, Minn., was a son of the late Gov. J. Franklin Fort.

A dry and a close personal friend of Herbert Hoover, Fort served under him as a dollar a year man in the food administration during the world war, and was his floor manager at the Republican national convention in Kansas City in 1928 when he was nominated for President.

From 1928 to 1930 he was secretary of the Republican national committee. Appointed by President Hoover, he served as chairman of the first federal housing board. He ran unsuccessfully against the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow for the Republican nomination for senator.

Princeton alumnus and a member of the New Jersey bar, he was an executive in several insurance companies, a pioneer in the reinsurance field, and a Newark banker.

He was first elected to congress in 1924 from the old Ninth district and served three terms, fathering considerable farm relief legislation.

Fort's last political fight was his unsuccessful contest with Gov. Harold G. Hoffman to be one of the state's delegates at large to the 1936 Republican national convention in Cleveland, which nominated Gov. Landon for President.

EX-MILLIONAIRE IS HAPPY BROKE, WRITING POETRY

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 20.—(AP)—Everett W. Hill, one time Rotary international president, watched a two million dollar fortune whisked away in the adverse business tempests of 1932 and today he doesn't want it back.

Everett W. Hill.

Found living in seclusion in northeast Oklahoma City, the former utilities magnate, now a writer of poems and essays, said:

"I went broke and I like it. I wouldn't have another fortune if you gave it to me. I've found the way to live and I intend to follow it the rest of my life."

His poems and essays, published under an undisclosed pen name, bring him in sufficient income to permit him to live modestly, he said.

Before the crash Hill lived in luxury in a palatial home here. His chain of ice and cold storage plants spread out over Oklahoma brought in a fat income.

In 1924-'25 he served as Rotary's international president, traveled over the world, collected $10,000 worth of Chinese art.

BARRIE'S ESTATE LARGEST OF ANY BRITISH WRITER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 20.—The estate of Sir James Barrie, famous writer who died yesterday, is expected to total $1,500,000, it is reported today, the largest sum ever left by a British author. Two of the chief beneficiaries are expected to be two adopted sons, Peter Llewellyn Davies, the original of "Peter Pan," and his brother, Nicholas Llewellyn Davies, who will inherit, it is believed, $250,000 each.

While Barrie lay dying in a west end nursing home a slight, gray haired woman was admitted to the bedside. The nursing staf knew her as Mrs. Gilbert Cannan, but to the author she was Mary Ansell, the girl wife he divorced in 1909 and the only woman he ever loved.

Parted for 28 years, they met again for the last time shortly before his death. When Mrs. Cannan knew Barrie was dying she came to London to be near him. During the many years of separation, Barrie and his former wife, who married Gilbert Cannan, the novelist, in 1910, corresponded frequently and remained on terms of closest friendship.

BAVARIAN DECREE SHUTS CATHOLIC PUBLIC SCHOOLS

[Copyright, 1937, By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, June 20.—The National Socialist [Nazi] régime struck back at the papacy with all its might today, announcing through Adolf Wagner, minister of the interior in Bavaria, the suppression of all Catholic public schools in that state—probably the most profoundly Catholic region in the reich. Some millions of school children are affected. The dissolution decree, which became effective yesterday before it was made public, is a direct and unquestioned breach of the concordat.

Garden Club of Barrington Sponsors Tour

Mrs. Frank Hecht to Serve Tea on Terrace.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Garden club of Barrington has arranged to hold an open garden day on Friday when eleven of that community's most attractive and beautiful gardens will be open to the public. Unlike the Lake Forest Garden club's recent and successful garden walk, the Barrington club's tour will be made mostly by automobile, save for the actual walking through the various gardens, for some of the estates that will be visited are situated considerable distances apart.

Starting at 1 o'clock in the village, the tour will last until 5:30 o'clock. The cost of $1 per ticket includes tea to be served on Mrs. Frank Hecht Jr.'s terrace. Every one will be given a map at the start, so there will be no delay in finding the different homes located in the rolling Barrington hills.

The gardens that will be visited, in addition to Mrs. Hecht's, are those of Mrs. John Roberts, Mrs. H. Stillson Hart, Mrs. Alexander Reichmann, Mrs. George Van Hagen, Mrs. J. R. Cardwell, Mrs. Edward K. Hardy, Mrs. Harold Cheney, Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp, Mrs. Paul Harper, and Mrs. Frank Johnston.

If it rains Friday, the tour will be postponed to the following day. Mrs. Randolph Payson and Miss Billee White are co-chairmen of the event.

Ruth DeYoung to Become H. V. Kohler's Bride Today.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Miriam DeYoung, daughter of Mrs. Frederic R. DeYoung and the late Justice DeYoung, to Herbert V. Kohler of Kohler, Wis., will take place at 5 o'clock this afternoon in St. Paul's Episcopal church, followed by a reception at the South Shore Country club. The Rev. John C. Evans, religious editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will read the service.

The bride will be attended by Miss Julia Hafner of St. Louis as maid of honor, and by Mrs. Alfred Hart Stafford of Boston as matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. Wardell Nelson Cronwall of Oak Park, Miss Eileen O'Daniel of Bronxville, N. Y., and Miss Mary Rowland of Salt Lake City. All of these, except Miss Rowland, attended Smith college with the bride.

Former Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Riverbend, Kohler, Wis., will be his brother's best man, and ushering will be four nephews of the bridegroom, Walter Kohler Jr., Robert E. and Carl J. Kohler of Kohler, and John M. Kohler of Glencoe; Cyrus L. Philipp of River Hills, Milwaukee, who is a son of the late Gov. E. L. Philipp of Wisconsin, and Sidney Smith Gorham Jr. of Winnetka, whose wife's sister is married to Mr. Kohler Jr.

Mr. Kohler and his bride will sail Wednesday in the Queen Mary to spend their honeymoon abroad. They will be at home after Dec. 1 in Kohler in a house that is to be built during their absence.

Baseball Game to Open Sally's Party Season

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Hi ho, boys and girls, summer's here and it's party time again!

Long ago we discovered that lots of boys and girls don't have an awfully good time during the summer, even though they are on vacation, so Tribune Charities, Inc., has appointed me to see to it that you youngsters have some fun. We schedule a party for boys and girls every week, and thousands of children have been made happy in this way.

We have a wonderful program planned for this year—just full of things to delight any child. Our first party will be on July 1, and it's a peach! On July 1 a hundred happy boys and girls will be my guests at Comiskey park, where they will see the Chicago White Sox play the Detroit Tigers.

I'm going to try to select the youngsters to whom such a party will mean the most. If you'd rather see that game on July 1 than do anything else you can think of you're just the kind of boy or girl I want as my guest. All you have to do is write me a letter that will convince me that you'll have a thoroughly good time, you see!

Any boy or girl may try for an invitation, and you don't have to buy or sell anything either.

Simply tell me why you'd enjoy this party, and remember to tell me your name, address and your age. You must write your own letter, and mail it so that it will reach me by next Thursday, June 24. Please don't ask for invitations for your friends or brothers or sisters; let them write in, too, if they want to come. Letters written for you by your parents will not be accepted.

Next Thursday all the mail will be read and fifty boys and fifty girls who write the best letters will be selected as my guests. Next Sunday's TRIBUNE will carry the names of the winners.

Send your letter to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Ann Yale Welch, daughter of Mrs. Dudley R. Welch and the late Dr. Welch, to William Thornton Austin, son of Jesse H. Austin of 7631 Cregier avenue, will take place at 4:30 o'clock next Saturday at St. Paul's church, with a reception following at the bride's home, 830 East 52d street. Miss Welch attended school in Rhode Island. Mr. Austin attended the University of Chicago and is a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

Wields Baton at Premiere of His Overture

David Van Vactor Greeted with Warm Reception.

BY CECIL SMITH.

Closing its season of indoor concerts at the Great Northern theater yesterday under the baton of Albert Goldberg, the Illinois Symphony orchestra played a diversified program consisting of Beethoven's Eighth Symphony, Griffes' "Pleasure Dome of Kubla Khan," Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Spanish Caprice," and two works by Chicagoans, David Van Vactor's "Overture to a Comedy" and Edward Collins' "Concert Piece" for piano and orchestra.

Mr. Van Vactor, who appeared as an excellent conductor of the world première of his own work, was greeted at its close by an open-handed and unanimous demonstration of approval. This warm reception was an eminently fair measure of the unusual eloquence of his gift for composition. I do not know of any other young Chicago composer more deserving of public success. For this reason I hope that he will find a way to subject his music to much sterner criticism than it has received in the past. If he will learn to become less diffuse and prolix in the presentation of his excellent musical ideas, a shining future is open to him.

Mr. Collins played his "Concert Piece" superbly. The work itself borrows its style and resources from several familiar quarters—notably Rachmaninoff—but it is skilfully put together and works up to effective climaxes.

The Chicago Conservatory of Music gave diplomas to twenty-five students at the annual commencement exercises in the Studebaker theater yesterday afternoon. Reino Luoma, reported to be an exceptionally promising young pianist, was prevented from appearing with the conservatory orchestra by the sudden death of his father. His place was taken in the Grieg concerto by Jean Housekeeper. Other soloists appearing with the orchestra under Robert Sanders' competent leadership were Dorothy Rosen Edidin, soprano; Robert Basso, violinist; William Franklin, baritone, and Robert Sandy, pianist. Dr. Glenn Dillard Gunn delivered the address.

The final concert of Mathilde Ernestine's "new star" series at the Beaux Arts salon took place yesterday. Dr. Erich Sorantin, violinist, was able successfully to thwart the usual effect of humidity upon a stringed instrument. Eleanor Culley MacKinlay sang two groups of songs, accompanied by Dorothy Crost.

AN English music critic, W. J. Turner, who wrote a book on Beethoven, made out a list of composers and their fitting colors, using his conclusions and those of his friends to point out that the greatest of them all suggest no color, daylight, and silver. Here is his list:

Chopin, blue.
Brahms, dark red.
Mozart, shining silver.
Debussy, jade, pearl gray, cloudy pink.
Wagner, purple and gold.
Tschaikowsky, magenta.
Strauss, livid.
Scriabin, red flannel or streaks of scarlet.
Beethoven, no color.
Bach, gray daylight.

Camera Crew Goes Native in Gold Country

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 20.—[Special.]—After camping for two weeks in the mother lode country of northern California where they had gone to plan location shooting for "Wells Fargo," Director Frank Lloyd and his camera crew, shaveless and minus other amenities of civilization, became indistinguishable from the motley troupe of old time miners who still trod the region gleaning in the mines.

Eating breakfast the morning they were to break their camp and head back for Hollywood, the group noticed a woman stop her ancient car on the nearby road. She got out and came toward them bringing a pile of old books and magazines.

Handing her gift to Lloyd, she said, "You're gold diggers, aren't you? Here are some things for you to read. I firmly believe that good books have kept many a man from sin." With which she departed as quickly as she had come.

When the astonished film men recovered from their amazement they discovered that the literary diet prescribed for them consisted of many religious magazines and classical moral tomes, including a much battered copy of "Pilgrim's Progress."

The other day Director Allan Dwan was shooting the scene in "Heidi" in which Shirley Temple falls asleep at the dinner table after being reprimanded for yawning by the stern governess. Shirley is supposed to be sound asleep when Arthur Treacher, as the sympathetic butler, bends over to awaken her.

"Shirley," he admonishes, "you're peeking."

Every one laughs and the scene begins over again. This time the blonde-curled favorite carries out her "sleep" perfectly.

Good Morning!

It's a blow to the intelligence; a blow to the observer's hope of getting his money's worth; a blow at the film industry as a whole. And WHAT a blow it must have been to players and director when they saw the finished product!

In other words, "Woman Chases Man" is poorly constructed, idiotically acted, stupidly dialoged, absurdly directed, tiresome, and all around punk.

See you tomorrow.

Sports Frocks Hold Center of Fashion Stage

Designers Using Zippers with Lavish Hand.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Smooth, distinctive looking sports dresses continue to hold the fashion spotlight. In the memory of the oldest shopper there never have been so many different ideas from which to choose. White or colored, these slim snappy clothes are the best looking buys in town.

In one shop you can find some British tan or dull copper colored models that go so well with plaster white accessories. The necklines are of the convertible type, the sleeves are short, there are clever plaits in the skirt and sometimes in the sleeves and the back of the shirt blouse top. White seam pipings and gleaming white zippers add to the fun.

Sports dresses without sleeves are brand new and are causing excitement in this shop. You'll fall for these slim beauties at the first glance. The material is soft and nubby, and the way the designer has lavished zippers is something to rave about. A silver zipper goes up each side from the hem to a point well above the waistline. Silver square cut buttons decorate and hold the banded front neckline. The silver studded belt has a silver buckle. The small chest pocket has a scarlet embroidered crown. This model comes in navy, white, and natural and you can order it in black with short sleeves.

Other unusual sports dresses are the plaited silk tennis dress with the wide polo belt cut with the dress. Others have zippers in contrasting colors. Some have halter necklines and have bright colored silk handkerchiefs tied round the waist. Sharkskin finds have colored buttons. Coarse weave natural tone linen fashions other prize winning models. Many of these dresses are so cleverly designed that they can double for street wear.

"I Devise and Bequeath"

[Copyright: 1937: By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

On his return from abroad Michael Eden, heir to millions, postpones his marriage to Katharine McCann because his foster-father, John Millis, tells Michael his foster-mother is ill and needs him. While dining at the Millises Katharine receives word that Amos Newton, uncle of Terry Newton, Michael's friend, wants to see her.

INSTALMENT VII.

A WARNING.

Katharine's eager eyes sought Michael's.

"That's quite all right, Kit," he said. "Let Amos Newton take you to the studio and I will call for you at 10."

"But this is nonsense!" Millis broke in. He looked reproachfully at Katharine. "Take her yourself, my boy, as you had planned. Leave the professor to me."

He gave Michael an impatient shove, but Michael merely stepped quietly out of reach. It was plain that he was taking his orders from Katharine.

But Katharine's eyes were not on Michael, nor on his impatient father. She was looking with deep concern at a woman whom, just a short time before, she had been admiring, so proud and happy had she looked, as if buoyed up by a secret triumph. Now she was staring at Katharine, eyes wide with fright. Slowly she rose to her feet, hesitated a moment, as she had twice before that evening, then crumpled pathetically, and would have sunk to the floor had not Terry caught her in his strong, young arms.

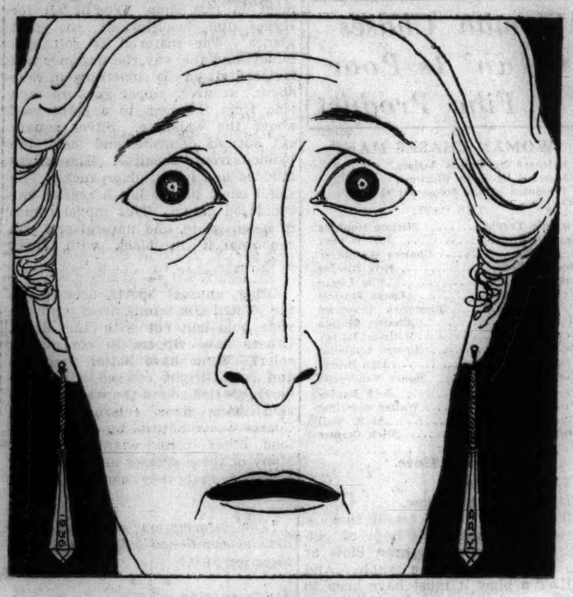
A moment more and Katharine found herself alone. Terry and Michael had carried the woman upstairs. Millis had excused himself and followed. Terry reappeared almost at once, but had been hurrying away some place, and merely waved at her as he passed. Katharine wandered about restlessly for a while, then got her wraps and sat down on the low sofa to wait. A servant announced that Mr. Newton's car was at the door. She paid no attention. She intended to see Michael before she left.

It was not long before he appeared, with Millis. They were walking along slowly, side by side, talking earnestly. They made a pleasant picture, a very impressive pair. Katharine rose quickly to waylay them.

"Why, Kit!" Michael said in astonishment, "we thought you had gone. You must, you must. Didn't Newton come?"

"He's out there, I believe. But Mrs. Millis?"

"Exactly the same as she has been for weeks," Millis said reassuringly.



Now she was staring at Katharine, eyes wide with fright.

"She seemed natural at dinner. It was like old times. Now she is down again. But she will be all right soon, now that Mike is back."

The girl listened with some impatience. "Michael!" she said softly.

"Yes, Kit?"

"Don't you need me, Michael?" Katharine's voice faltered. "Michael, may I stay?"

The young man's face lighted quite wonderfully, and he gave her an eager, boyish smile. Millis quietly forestalled his answer.

"May you stay? By all means, dear Katharine, for ever and ever. But not under a misapprehension. There is nothing you can do, you know." He smiled mischievously. "Though I'm not so sure. If Mike has little time for you, I certainly need somebody. You can stay and talk to me." He sobered again. "We mustn't let you see Mrs. Millis. Indeed, I prefer that she should not know that you are here. I hate to say it, Katharine, but Mother is jealous. It's nothing unusual. She will get over it. But we won't hurry her. Not in her present condition. She is—slightly neurotic, you know."

He smiled kindly at Katharine and reached over and pinched her cheek. Michael seized the girl's arm and ran her lightly down the steps to the waiting car. He looked very white. Katharine hoped it was just the street light. He seemed natural enough.

"Here she is, Dean Newton," he said cheerfully. "She's late. Run a few lights, sir, if necessary. This is not her fault."

Michael stepped back quickly, so that he might not delay them. "Good-by, Kit. For an hour or so. Sing your prettiest. We shall be listening in."

The car slid swiftly and noiselessly down the drive. Katharine strained her eyes for a last glimpse of Michael. Sing! Her throat was tight. She wished she might scream. But here was Dean Newton. He was saying something. He might expect her to have some idea of what he was saying.

Terry has been dressing me down. He says that, so far as he is concerned, I am just a pain in the neck."

"Don't listen to Terry. He's had a hard day. He has a weakness for Michael and he has a weakness for me. And he is sentimental. He would like to see the course of true love run a little more smoothly." She turned on him squarely. "Do you mind telling me what you wanted to see me about?"

"Yes, I mind. Very much. How far is a man excusable, Miss Katharine, for meddling in another person's business?"

"If you are the man, and I am the person, go the limit. What's the matter?"

"I don't like the Millises." Newton spoke sharply.

Katharine stared. "I don't see that you need let them worry you," she said slowly. "What possible contact need you have with them?" She laughed nervously. "I suspect that neither of them is so keen about you."

Newton looked a little haughty. "I don't trust the Millises, Miss Katharine," he said emphatically.

"Forgive me, sir—what of it?"

"Miss McCann," he said, a sudden tenseness in his voice, "suppose that you saw me walking along with my head in the clouds, straight in the path of an oncoming train. Wouldn't you even stretch out your hand to draw me back?"

"Certainly, I'd grab you and hang on for dear life," she said, laughing a little hysterically. "What of it?"

"How would you feel, dear young lady, if I turned on you when you were doing your little best, and said 'What of it?' and plunged ahead?"

"O dear! These metaphors just get me no place," Katharine complained. "Are you trying to put me on my guard against the Millises?"

"I strongly advise you to cut loose from them entirely," Newton said firmly.

"Suppose I can't pry Michael loose?"

"O, I think you can."

"That's what I am to do, if I can?"

"Yes, yes. By all means."

"Why?"

"I don't trust them."

"You won't tell me why?"

"Not tonight. Probably never."

"Then I shall just have to thank you, and make no promises."

"But you will remember?"

"Yes."

They rode along in silence the rest of the way. When they reached the studio, and Newton saw that they had a few minutes to spare, he spoke again, soberly.

"I saw you at the station this morning. You were young love at its loveliest. Like my nephew, I am a sentimental man. My baggage was on the train, my foot on the step of the car. Then I realized that I could not go until I had made this—apparently futile—effort. I say this by way of apology for intruding and I ask you not to consider me, as my nephew does, nothing but a pain in the neck."

"I don't," she said softly. "O, I don't!"

He lifted his hat and bowed. She smiled through her tears as she saw him deposit the hat absently on the seat beside him and drive away at a rather mad rate, his hair blowing in the wind.

Katharine sang her little songs and hurried to leave the studio. She was worried and upset. She thought it more than likely that she would find a solemn, empty limousine waiting for her and no Michael.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Bride and Gloom

Evening Bath Should Be a Leisurely Rite

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Most of us go through the motions of the morning bath automatically, usually sparring for time. Just so many minutes allotted to the bath, so many for dressing, for makeup, a hurried cup of coffee. It's a rush from the moment one gets up until her arrival at the office.

Let's be more leisurely about the bath we enjoy at the close of the day. It's a delightfully refreshing habit to acquire in hot weather, that of a leisurely bath before dinner and stepping out for the evening's pleasures. Delightful, also, after an afternoon of tennis, or golf, or a day of shopping when you return home feeling all fagged out. Make a ritual of this bath, and get the most possible enjoyment out of it that it's possible to get. If you can work in a fifteen minute rest after it, so much the better, but even without the rest period you'll feel like a different person after you've discarded your sticky clothing and leisurely washed away the perspiration and dirt which accumulate during a busy day.

Run a little hot water in your tub. Then throw in some bath salts. By throwing the bath salts into the hot water you dissolve them quickly and the perfume is immediately released. You don't want a hot bath, of course, so after the hot water has done its work with the salts, turn on the cold faucet, and temper the water to suit your particular taste, whether warm, tepid or cool. While the tub is filling, cream your face and neck with cleansing cream, and wipe the cream off carefully with tissues. You'll be surprised at the amount of dirt removed, for warm skins have a way of attracting plenty of it. If you use an astringent, apply it now. It produces a pleasing coolness.

Hop into the tub, and after you've given yourself a good washing all over, relax. Forget everything. Swish the water about, then lie quietly for a few minutes. You emerge clean, nerves have lost their tenseness, you're calm and so refreshed. This type of bath is a real tonic.

When you step out of the tub, pat yourself dry. The vigorous rub down so essentially a part of the morning tub is not for this bath. While the body is still moist, pat on a skin tonic or eau de cologne for the soothing quality. Dust yourself with talcum. If you don't feel fresh as a daisy then, you never will.

How to massage your scalp properly is told in Antoinette Donnelly's handbook, "Bring Out the Beauty in Your Hair." Get a copy today at either of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. Postpaid, 7 cents.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

LONDON.— [Special.] — Remember when you were a little girl and your mother gave you your shampoos? How you hung your head over the basin and inevitably got soap and water in your eyes? That's the way you get a shampoo in London if you patronize the average hairdressing establishment. You could count on one hand the places that have the kind of back-rest chairs which enable us Americans to have our shampoos with comfort and dispatch.

The London hairdressing establishment is quite unlike the American one. In the large stores, where they have rather elaborate beauty-layouts, the manager is most likely to be a man, formally dressed and very much the host. English women prefer the utmost privacy.

There is only one great exception to the rule that all work is done in roomy, private cubicles — a French shop in Dover street where women pay enormous prices to patronize a busy, "open" shop where they sit side by side in noise, heat, and discomfort and each one knows the tinge of the other one's rinse. Its sucess with the Mayfair belle is just one of those mysteries.

In the average shop you are steered tenderly into your private cubicle and don't emerge until your work is finished. You're tucked into a smock, toweled up and handed a pad to protect your eyes, just as you were when you were a child. Then you lean forward, resting your forehead on the basin, and the operator shampoos you. You end up with your eyes a little smeared with water and soap but with a good, firm fingered shampoo and a funny little reminder of your lost youth.

American women always yell about this leaning-over-the-basin act, but English women are quite content. The dryer is brought to you—and we will say that one dryer used on us was the fastest we'd ever found. But it wasn't a British victory; the machine was American!

Skirt and Blouse Ensemble

WOMAN'S AND MISS' SPORTS COSTUME.

One of the most practical skirt models to appear on the fashion horizon in a long time is the umbrella-tucked type. It has all the grace of plaiting and none of the pressing difficulties. It has wide flare, particularly necessary for active sports wear, and attractive for all types of informal daytime wear. To top this skirt is a classic shirtwaist blouse, which may have a high collar embellished with a bow, or an opened rever neckline. The sleeves may be long or short. Buttons trim the center front closing, and two pockets grace the bodice.

There are many ways in which you may wear this costume. The skirt and shirt may contrast or the two pieces may be made of the same fabric. The skirt always may be worn with other blouses and sweaters, and the blouse may be used as a separate suit accessory. Lightweight summer woolens are ideal for the skirt, and all the washable seasonal fabrics are attractive for the blouse. Fashioning the entire ensemble of a daintily printed tub silk also is a good idea.

Style No. 3302 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 1¾ yards of 39 inch material for the blouse, with 2¼ yards of 39 inch fabric for the skirt.

Use a moderate rather than a high temperature to cook fish, nutritionists advise us. Almost without exception cookbooks published more than a year or so ago recommend high heat for fish. But high heat, report the experts, is bad for any protein, fish not excepted. Therefore we must modify our old fish cooking methods somewhat.

Whether we fry, bake, or broil a fish the rule for moderate temperature should apply. However, in frying, a high temperature for the initial browning is not frowned upon if the heat is reduced as soon as the fish has browned.

Mackerel should be broiled or baked at this time of the year. The season for frying mackerel is early spring, when the fish's oil content is lowest. The oil content of mackerel rises nearly 30 per cent from spring to fall. An oily fish never should be fried, as this cooking process decomposes the highly unstable oils to give a slightly rancid flavor.

Stuffed Baked Mackerel.

1 large mackerel [3 to 3½ pounds]
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup bread crums
¼ teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 teaspoon each chopped onions, capers, and parsley

Combine crums with seasonings and stuff into the prepared fish, which may have head and tail removed or left intact, as desired. Tie the fish together, brush the outside with butter, and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes, basting frequently.

BROILED HALIBUT STEAK.

Spread slices of halibut with butter, sprinkle with lemon juice and salt, and place on an ovenproof platter or on the broiling rack. Brown on both sides under medium heat. The fish will be cooked when it has browned on both sides. It may be difficult to turn the fish on the broiling rack without breaking it, so a platter or a flat surface is to be recommended. Serve with lemon butter or tartar sauce.

BAKED HALIBUT.

Select a 1½ pound halibut steak. Place it in a large, shallow baking dish in which 2 tablespoons of butter have been melted. Sprinkle with salt and cover with ⅔ cup evaporated milk and ⅔ cup water. Cover and bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until the fish can be easily separated from the bone with a fork.

Planked Whitefish.

1 four pound whitefish
Salt, pepper
¼ cup melted butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Hot mashed potatoes
1 egg

Remove the head of the cleaned fish, dry the fish carefully, and split lengthwise without cutting in two [or have this done at the market]. Place on a hot, buttered plank, skin side down and opened out. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and brush with butter. Bake in a moderate oven for half an hour, basting at intervals with a mixture of the melted butter and lemon juice. Garnish the plank with a border of hot mashed potatoes brushed over with beaten egg and return to the oven to brown the potatoes. Serve on the plank garnished with wedges of lemon and parsley.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

PENALTY DOUBLES OF NO TRUMP BIDS.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

A double of a one no trump overcall is based upon the Rule of Eight. The opening bid has shown two and one-half honor tricks. If the responder also has two and one-half honor tricks he knows that his side has five out of a total of eight and one-half, and that the opponent has probably three and one-half honor tricks at most. With this advantage in honor tricks, and with the added advantage of the opening lead, the one no trump bid probably can be defeated by two tricks, and if partner's bid turns out to be more than a minimum the penalty should be three tricks.

Playing conditions will modify the Rule of Eight, which gives only a rough estimate of trick expectancy. If the doubler has a fit with his partner's suit, something like Qxx or J10x, and if his hand contains distributed strength with several tens and nines, he may double a one no trump overcall with about two honor tricks, sometimes as few as one and one-half. Although this is a light double, the opener is expected to pass it unless his distribution is highly unbalanced, consisting of a two-suiter or of one long weak suit which cannot be established at no trump.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's triple raise was a stretch. Since he had only one and one-half honor tricks, and those in partner's suit, he should have had at the minimum a singleton in some other suit to increase his playing strength. Judging from the basis of a shutout, however, the bid had considerable merit. As it happens, East-West actually could have made a game in clubs had they been allowed to "get together" in the bidding.

West opened the club queen, East signaled a "come-on" and declarer ruffed the club continuation. On the assumption that success or failure depended squarely on the position of the diamond king, declarer then drew the one outstanding trump and led a diamond from the dummy. The queen finesse lost, however, and later there was no way to avoid the loss of two heart tricks for the contract's defeat.

I do not wish to imply that success might have been achieved against the very best defense, but I do feel that declarer did not give himself the best chance. On ruffing the second club, declarer should run off four spades, ending in dummy. West, undoubtedly, would discard his three clubs but on the fourth round might well decide to let go a heart instead of a diamond. If he did, the following play would probably prove effective.

A heart to the nine spot, which West would win with the jack. West then would have to select an exit card. A diamond obviously would go into declarer's tenace, and a low heart would permit declarer to cash the ace and throw West back on lead with the hear king for a forced diamond return.

Thus declarer could have maneuvered to put West in the position in which only the return of the heart king could have resulted in the contract's defeat. Of course East could scotch this coup by putting up the ten or queen of hearts on the first heart lead from dummy, but how many players in East's position would play any card but the eight spot?

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: May a player ask his partner which card he played on the current trick?

Answer: Yes. Until a trick has been quitted a player may require the others to specify which cards have been played from their respective hands.

American Team of 4 Loses World Bridge Title to Austrians

BUDAPEST, June 20.—(AP)—The Austrian team of four tonight captured the world contract bridge championship by defeating the New York team by 4,740 points in the final 96-hand match. The Austrians finished with a spurt, increasing their margin from 250 to 4,740 points in the last twelve hands. The New York four was 780 points down to the Austrians after 72 hands.

For the Americans Ely Culbertson and Mrs. Culbertson played erratically in the final test, but experts praised the play of Mrs. A. M. Sobel and Charles Vogelhoffer. Budapest bridge enthusiasts acclaimed Vogelhoffer, 23 years old, as a prodigy.

Band Leaders Show Variety in Handwriting

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

Orchestras come and go in Chicago, but there is one orchestra conductor whose name is familiar to all. And here is his handwriting:

Dear Miss Stafford;
Yours for more
and better music.
Harold Stokes

They are an unpredictable group, these orchestra leaders. You may remember the suavity of Paul Whiteman's handwriting, the ultrasensitive handwriting of Ted Lewis, the dashing script of Eddy Duchin, and the completely unreadable signature of Stokowski. All of these have appeared in this column and every one is completely different from the others.

Intense detachment marks the writing of Harold Stokes, combined with a beautiful artistry in the way he placed the words on paper. The margin at the top, bottom, and sides was perfectly balanced.

Pointed letter tops and backhand slant reveal a mind that is completely under the writer's control as well as critical and analytical. Unlike most orchestra leaders, Harold Stokes does not flinch from music he doesn't like. He would do well as a critic in any line of work because he is able to detach himself from the problem at hand and to see it clearly.

The t-bars contradict the restraint shown by pointing upward ambitiously and they wave a bit, indicating a humor that is not shown at all in the serious body of the writing.

Your Handwriting Analyzed

Any Tribune reader can obtain a personal graphology chart showing his or her assets, handicaps, talents, and emotions by following these rules:

1. Send sample of handwriting to Muriel Stafford, Chicago Tribune, post-office box 1720.

3. Inclose a self-addressed, STAMPED envelope, folded once.

Pleasing Girls Earns a Fellow Their Company

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Joe thinks he has a problem on his hands, and here's what it is:

"I am 18 years old and the fellow I travel with is better looking than I am. Whenever we go out with the girls he always seems to get more attention. Must I leave this friend to get a girl friend? He is one of the best friends I ever have had.

"Also, tell me what is the nicest way to ask a girl to go out with you to a dance, or some other place."

Undoubtedly the qualities that endear this young man to you are those that make him so popular with the girls. That proves that it is not his good looks alone that attract.

When you want to do something nice in the way of entertainment for a girl, it always is a thoughtful gesture to consult her about her preferences. It isn't important how you extend the invitation.

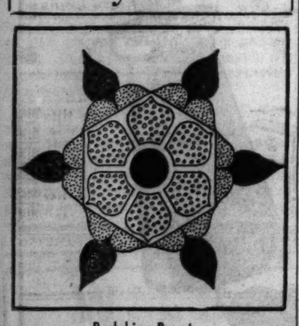
Effective Quilt in Applique Is Easy to Create



Berkshire Beauty.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This attractive "Berkshire Beauty" is an effective applique design done in a combination of printed and plain materials in gay and brilliant colors. It is easy to set together. The finished applique blocks measure 15 inches square and are assembled in an alternate arrangement with plain white blocks. Fifteen of each kind are required, and they are surrounded with a seven and one-half inch plain white border, which is bound with green matching that of the leaves. The finished coverlet measures 90 by 105 inches, which is an ideal size for a spread rather than for a quilt.

His Royal Highness, the Baby, Is Served in the Infant Shops

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

If you are baby minded you will find that a rushing business is going on in the store departments where his royal highness, the baby, is served.

And the baby is served and a trained nurse usually is in evidence. The saleswomen, one finds, often are mothers themselves. "When my baby was little I used to use this and this and this," one hears them say. The head of the department answers the question of a "green" saleswoman with authority: "No, not the lether belt to hold the baby in his high chair. We have some made of webbing. It's cooler in summer and also softer when he has few clothes on." Somehow, selling things for the baby doesn't get to be just a routine job, it seems to be attended by a real interest.

On the other side of the counter, of course, the interest is more intense and of a distinctly personal kind. Inexperienced mothers-to-be listen eagerly to advice, with the words of their doctor echoing in their ears when it comes to choosing between silk and wool, cotton and wool, or all cotton for the new born baby's tiny shirts and bands.

Always keeping in mind those mothers whose incomes are small, I was delighted to find prices low, and garments and equipment attractive as well as carefully planned for the baby's needs and the mother's convenience. Things seen in the shops are to be noted tomorrow.

DE VALERA SEES IRELAND UNITED WITHIN 20 YEARS

Hopes for Good Relations with Britain.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, June 20.—Sean O'Casey, a Chicagoan, in a campaign speech for President Eamon de Valera in County Clare last night said thousands in the United States are deeply interested in the result of the July 1 election and approve of the new constitution which they regard as a great charter of liberty.

William T. Cosgrave.

De Valera asserted it was his hope to bring about good relations with Great Britain, but such relations must be on the basis of justice for Ireland. He said that while under the new constitution the government would not be able to exercise jurisdiction over the whole of Ireland, he did not doubt that within twenty years the Dublin government would be able to do so.

Cosgrave Urges Coöperation.

William T. Cosgrave, leader of the opposition, speaking at Cork, declared De Valera's party by failing to make a settlement with Britain is damaging the best interests of the country. He claimed that no lowering of the flag of independence was involved in coöperation with the British commonwealth of nations.

A piquant incident took place today at the Sandymount Catholic church near Dublin where Sean MacEntee, minister of finance, was speaking. Father Ryan, the parish priest, came out and informed the minister his voice was interrupting the congregation and expressed disapproval of his conduct.

MacEntee replied that he was making no more noise than the street traffic, whereupon Father Ryan brought a policeman from the church to vouch for his allegation. The policeman agreed with him and spoke to the chairman of the meeting, which shortly was ended.

Republicans Hold Meeting.

So far the election campaign has been remarkably free from bitterness or conflict. Irish republicans [an illegal organization] assembled at Bodenstown, county Kildare, today for an anniversary celebration and several speakers who made strong utterances were allowed to proceed without government intervention and with only a few police present. Speakers indicated that no votes would be given De Valera and certainly none to Cosgrave.

One speaker advocated continuous resistance to suppression of republicans and said that if smashing of the Republican organization continued, the stage soon would be reached when they would not submit tamely, but use the forces available to resist. Without the Irish Republican army, he said, there was no hope of freedom.

BRADDOCK, LOUIS END WORK FOR TITLE BOUT

PHILLIES DEFEAT CUBS, 6-5; WHITE SOX LOSE 2 GAMES

FOUR RUN RALLY IN EIGHTH FAILS TO SAVE BRYANT

Double Error Helps Philadelphia Win.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Clay Bryant's miracle bubble, which had lifted him to the surprise rating of the National league's leading pitcher, with fancy statistical trimmings, had to be busted sometime. The Phillies attended to the puncturing business at Wrigley field yesterday before 23,734 paying guests when they conquered the league leaders, 6 to 5. It was Bryant's first defeat.

As things turned out the winning run was scored on an unusual error. Bill Herman, playing like a demon throughout the game, extended his territory too much and ran into Joe Marty as he was about to make a catch which would have ended the eighth inning and prevented the Phillies' sixth run. But there's no use to give further thought to this technicality. The Cubs deserved to lose on their helpless showing against Bucky Walters prior to the eighth. Also they deserved to lose on the basis of Bryant's sad reversion to type.

The Boys Forget Statistics.

Bryant had the statistical boys going up till the fifth inning. Big Clay up to that point had pitched 22 scoreless innings and had retired 69 of the last 76 batsmen to face him. In the fifth the statistical pencils became dull, however, when the Phils took a 2 to 1 lead. They became duller in the seventh when the visitors scored three runs on five hits. Said pencils went in the ashcan when Jurges and Herman complicated Bryant's distress with errors good for the winning run in the eighth.

The Cubs woke up after trailing 5 to 1 going into the home eighth. A single by Phil Cavarretta, a double by Herman, a triple by Rip Collins and singles by Stan Hack and Ken O'Dea gave the Cubs four runs.

Old Syl Johnson then took the mound in the ninth and easily disposed of Cavarretta, Galan and Herman.

Whitney Slows Up Ratio.

The setback enabled the St. Louis Cards, who supplanted the Giants in second place, to gain a game and a half on the Cubs and the Giants to gain a game. The Giants must sweep the impending three game series with the Cubs to pass the Chicagoans, then they will go to St. Louis while the Cubs play the Dodgers. The Cards, who open tomorrow with the Dodgers, are exactly a game behind the Cubs. The Giants are a game and four percentage points.

Bryant ran his hot streak to 62 out of 67 batsmen retired before Whitney slowed down the ratio with a single after two were out in the second inning. The string was resumed when Demaree made a nice catch of Atwood's shot to right center.

The Cubs broke through with a run in their second inning. Demaree tripled off the left field wall, paused while Hack popped to Arnovich in short left, and scored on Hartnett's line single to left center.

Whitney caromed a single off Bryant's glove in the fifth for his second and the Phillies' fourth hit, after which Atwood fanned. Scharein walked, the second pass by Bryant in twenty-three innings. Demaree went to the screen to pull down Walters'

Yankees' Homers Heap Grief on Sox, 8-4, 7-4, Before 68,939

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 20.—Leave it to the Yankees to put on a show when there's money in the house. There were 68,939 crowded into their stadium today, so the world champions revealed their secret formula for winning titles. They showered the White Sox with home runs to win the first game of a double-header, 8 to 4. Then they bounced back with more murderous smashes to triumph, 7 to 4, in the second game.

All that can be said for the Sox is that they had a four run margin in the first game. But they got it in the first inning, thus providing the champions with plenty of time to catch up. The Yanks caught up all right, using old Ted Lyons as a stepping stone. He held them for three innings, and from then until he resigned at the end of the seventh he didn't experience a peaceful moment.

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom!

George Selkirk hit one of Lyons' tosses into the seats with two on in the fourth. Lou Gehrig tied it with a homer in the fifth, and in the seventh the tie exploded when four more were driven home, two by Joe Di Maggio's homer and two by Selkirk's second homer of the game.

While the four run lead was highly acceptable, the Sox didn't do much to earn it. It was due mainly to crazy throwing by Señor Vernon Gomez, who apparently set out to prove, and succeeded, that you never can tell about a left hander. The señor walked five men in the first inning, forcing in one run. Three others bloomed when Tony Piet cleaned up a full house by doubling. But after that eccentric exhibition the señor really pitched and the Sox never again approached the plate.

Big John Takes Licking.

In the second game the Yanks used John Whitehead as a target, although not with the violence they applied against Lyons. Big John served long enough to develop into a cousin for Gehrig and Bill Dickey. Each nicked him for three hits in their first three appearances. One of these was Dickey's homer, with Gehrig on base in the fifth, the last two runs making a total of five off the Sox's giant. John was excused after the sixth, the only inning in which he didn't surrender a hit, but for good measure the champions saluted Sugar Cain with a pair of runs in the seventh.

The Sox couldn't come even close to furnishing appropriate amusement in the second game until Monte Pearson, making his first start since May 21, decided he was tired. His skill stuck with him for seven innings, during which time the Chicagoans authored only five hits. Two of these in the seventh provided a run. Then they staged a little jamboree against Johnny Murphy in the eighth, but the three runs which resulted meant nothing.

FIRST GAME

Gomez's charity in the first inning of the opening game, when the Sox presented Lyons with a four run lead, started with passes to Radcliff and Kreevich. Walker sacrified and Bonura struck out. Gomez promptly resumed his philanthropies. He walked Appling, filling the bases, and Hayes, forcing in Radcliff. Piet didn't wait for a gift. He clubbed a low liner into right center to drive in Kreevich, Appling, and Hayes. Piet went to third on his hit, but was credited only with a double because his arrival at third was due to Rolfe dropping the throw in. Shea then walked, but Lyons lined to Gehrig.

Lead Begins to Fade.

Three runs of Lyons' advantage vanished in the fourth before anybody was retired. Gehrig singled through second and Dickey walked. Before doing the real damage Selkirk took a couple of practice shots. He sent a fly into the right field seats, but it was foul by inches. He sent one into the left field seats and this also was foul by a small margin. Then he let go with another, this time into a right center field runway for homer No. 12 as well as three Yankee runs.

Lyons' original advantage disappeared completely in the fifth. Gehrig, with a 2 and 2 count, reached out for a high pitch, clipped it with the business end of his bat, and sent homer No. 11 into the left field seats.

The Final Blast.

The seventh inning blast which definitly settled Lyons' hopes started on a pass to Rolfe with one out. Di

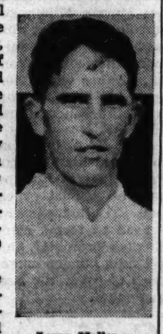
MOLLER DEFEATS RICHARDSON, 9-8, FOR STATE TITLE

Peoria, Ill., June 20.—[Special.]—Taking advantage of one of the most erratic final rounds in the meet's history, Larry Moller of Quincy breezed to his second title by whipping Sid Richardson of the Kildeer Country club, Chicago, in the final 36 hole round of the seventh annual amateur golf tournament today, 9 and 8.



Larry Moller.

Richardson, the Big Ten champion from Northwestern, showed a complete reversal of the form that carried him to a semi-final victory yesterday over Gus Moreland, former western amateur champion, and twice winner of the trans-Mississippi title. Sid showed signs of cracking on the first hole in the afternoon 18.

Sid Has Some Trouble.

Before they had played eight of the last ten Sid had visited nearly every hazard on the 6,436 yard, par 72, Mount Hawley Country club course.

Moller's back nine this morning was one of the finest of the tourney. He posted a medal 35, one under par, with a string of four threes, including three birdies. That gave him a 4 up advantage through thirteen holes of play and Richardson never was able to catch up.

That's Two Championships.

Moller, who eliminated Defending Champion Wilbur Kokes of Berwyn in the first round of match play, won his first state title at Springfield in 1934, when he defeated Cliff McKelvey of Decatur.

George Sisolek, Waukegan, won the championship consolation match by defeating Fred Wysowski of Kewanee, 3 and 1, in 36 holes.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

RUSS HALL of Los Angeles, secretary of the Association of Professional Ball Players of America, recently released an annual report revealing that there is $111,113.36 at the moment in the organization's charity fund. The bulk of the money has come from receipts of the All-Star interleague games, originated by this department. The purpose of the association is to furnish financial assistance to players and umpires who are unable to provide for themselves and who have no other source of income. It is not intended to aid able bodied men who do not like to work. Nor is it an accident or unemployment insurance company. It strives to relieve distress among players of bygone days.

The fund is retained by Commissioner K. M. Landis and is distributed by the advisory council consisting of the commissioner, President William Harridge of the American league, and President Ford Frick of the National league. Only enough is turned over to the association each year to meet the demands for relief. In 1936, for instance, the amount distributed was $24,237.90. The total number of persons assisted last year was 106. The surplus money is invested in United States government securities.

Profits of the fifth annual All-Star game, which will be played in Washington July 7, again will be donated to the old players' fund.

"Well, boys, what's the big idea?" the returning one asked. To which the beaver brothers replied: "You took the razor with you when you left." Prince Warren.

STORM BRINGS SUDDEN END TO LOUIS' TRAINING

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kenosha, Wis., June 20.—Joe Louis' sparring in preparation for his world's championship bout with James Braddock came to an abrupt end this afternoon one minute and 25 seconds after the start of his second round of boxing with Tiger Hairston of Wheeling, W. Va.

Just before the workout, a terrific downpour drenched the canvas floor of the ring, not to mention the thousand or more spectators who had come to see the challenger's last drill before Tuesday's title bout at Comiskey park.

Hairston Opens Up.

The shower passed and Louis came out of his dressing room. He began warily against his sparring partner, neither doing much punching during the first round. Soon after the start of the second round Hairston charged in furiously, sending a volley of rights and lefts at the Brown Bomber. Louis skidded on the slippery canvas and covered up as he was pinned to the ropes. They broke clear, but time was called immediately though the round was less than a minute and a half on its way.

After a hurried conference Mushky Jackson came to the center of the ring with one of his typical announcements designed to salve the disappointment of the spectators who had paid one dollar apiece to see the show.

"Ladees and gentlemen," Mushky bawled. "The slippery condition of the ring makes it impossible for the sparring to go on as Louis is afraid he might injure his—his feet. He will now take some calis—some cal—some exercoises."

He Punches Bag.

So Joe went through a session of calisthenics and bag punching and then stepped out of the ring with nothing to do during the next few days except fight for the championship of the world.

Joe will make sure of getting a good rest in familiar surroundings on the night before the fight by remaining at his villa six miles south of this city until Tuesday morning. The Louis party will go to Chicago in a special car which will be picked up by a regular North Shore train at Zion City. The trip will be planned so that Joe will arrive just in time to weigh in at the Auditorium theater at noon. He will leave the train at the Congress street station and will have only a few steps to walk.

Between the time of the weighing in and his appearance in Comiskey park Louis will be carefully hidden

CHAMPION WILL QUIT CAMP FOR CHICAGO TODAY

Aids Predict Victory Tomorrow.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Beach, Mich., June 20.—Jim Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, today didn't even visit the canvas training site where he has spent the greater portion of the last six weeks preparing for his title defense at Comiskey park, Chicago, Tuesday night against Joe Louis. Braddock wasn't even at camp during the afternoon, according to the report of Joe Gould, his manager, who said Jim had gone motoring with friends from New Jersey.

But the champion's absence did not reduce attendance materially at Pine Wood inn, Braddock's headquarters. From noon until dusk of this sultry summer day hundreds of curious fans traipsed along the sandy road to camp, banked solidly around the chicken wire fence, and frequently broke through the police cordon to reach the training barracks.

Just Like a County Fair.

Venders set up tables in front of the inn to serve drinks. The setting resembled an afternoon at the county fair, with far less to see. No one could blame Braddock for ducking this throng of sightseers, although he must have felt complimented by their presence.

Strangely enough, despite advertisment that Braddock would not work out today, nearly a score of news reporters gathered at press headquarters. Many will stay until tomorrow morning and they expect to follow the champion to Chicago, where he will be quartered at a south side hotel until time to weigh in Tuesday noon at the Auditorium theater.

The champion will be accompanied in the auto to Chicago by Doc Robb, his trainer; Jack McCarthy, a sparring mate, and Police Officers Tom Breen and Al Bruns. The police were assigned by Capt. Harry O'Connell.

By universal consent no one attempted to interview Braddock this morning. It really was quite unnecessary, as he repeatedly has admitted he expects to whip Louis.

Some One Said It, Anyway.

Joe Gould, or perhaps it was Tex Sullivan, dictated a final statement for Braddock. Gould delivered the statement verbally, as the camp's mimeograph broke yesterday under the last minute publicity demands. Gould revised the verbal statement, adding and subtracting, until it was scarcely recognizable. In the main, however, it evolved around a central idea that he, Braddock, expected to give his best, and that, after a gruelling fight, he would retain the championship of the world no matter how hard Louis tried to snatch the prize from him.

Braddock didn't seem at all disturbed by the approach of his date with Louis. His complacency either is direct reaction to supreme confidence in the outcome, or satisfaction that, even if defeated, he again will be financially independent.

Jimmy Should Worry.

Although latest estimates for the fight place net receipts at approximately $600,000, Braddock's 50 per cent will be a competency after division with Gould. Training expenses under this arrangement are paid by the manager.

Charley Massera and young Bill Irby boxed a round this afternoon. They were the only members of the champion's entourage who felt necessity for action.

WILL BRADDOCK JOIN THIS KNOCKOUT LIST TOMORROW NIGHT?

Max Baer, a victim of Joe Louis' punch, goes down in third and finally was knocked out in fourth in September, 1935.

Joe Louis, in his first fight after his twelve round knockout at the hands of Max Schmeling on June 19, 1936, flattens Jack Sharkey in the third round of bout on Aug. 18, 1936. An inelegant position for a former champion!

Louis makes short work of Charley Retzlaff. He's sending Retzlaff to the floor in 1:25 of the first round on Jan. 17, 1936.

2 YEAR OLDS IN FUTURITY TRIAL AT HOMEWOOD

Mountain Ridge Is to Run Today.

Washington Park's final week of racing, Futurity week, given over mainly to the 2 year olds, will get under way today. The $40,000 Futurity, over a six furlong route, closes the meeting Saturday.

The first of the numerous chances for the leading 2 year old candidates to get a tightening race out of the way, will be afforded today in the fourth race.

Farrell in First Start.

One of the Milky Way farm's five candidates for the Futurity, Mountain Ridge, will appear under colors this afternoon. Mountain Ridge is the son of Royal Minstrel, which scored such an impressive victory on opening day despite running wide at the head of the stretch and losing m ch ground. Mountain Ridge is to be accompanied by Farrell, a colt for which Mrs. Mars paid $18,000 last August at the Saratoga sales. Farrell has not yet raced and was not kept in nomination for the Futurity.

Bourbon King Named.

From the east has come a youngster touted among the three or four best which have been uncovered in that sector. He is Hal Price Headley's Bourbon King, to be ridden by Les Balaski, who won the Derby Saturday astride Dawn Play. Bourbon King is one of the outstanding choices for the Futurity.

Also Warren Wright's best youngster to date, Teddy Weed, will go along with his stablemate, Bull Lea, and the Valdina farm's Diavolo Boy and Hermana. A. C. Ernst's Alup completes the list of those named for the stake, but three others, Joseph Widener's Employer, John Marsch's Blaufuss, and Ernst's Albubble, hope to upset them all.

Grant Ill; May Not Compete at Wimbledon

LONDON, June 20.—(AP)—Bryan Grant's prospects of playing with his American Davis cup teammates at Wimbledon looked slim today on the eve of the biggest fortnight of tennis. Grant still was abed under the care of a trained nurse while his companions engaged in final practice matches at the adjacent Roehampton club.

The American players were guests at the International Lawn Tennis club's annual pre-Wimbledon reception today along with the stars of other nations, including the Australians, whom they beat in the American zone Davis cup finals.

The players paired up every which way for the entertainment of a fashionable gallery, but scores were not officially kept. They all just enjoyed themselves.

The American nonplaying captain, Walter M. Pate, was not too hopeful Grant would be able to wield his racket Tuesday when his first match is scheduled.

"He is much beter than when we put him to bed," Pate said, "but he has gone off his food now. He's still determined to play but . . ."

The only players of any repute between Grant and the quarterfinals a week from tomorrow are A. C. Stedman of New Zealond and Marcel Bernard of France. From their records, observers believe Grant could beat either of them, even with a high temperature.

SILVER HIND AND CHRISTINA WIN WILMETTE RACES

Two races for sloops of the Wilmette snipe class fleet were held yesterday off Wilmette harbor.

Paul Hanson in his entry, Christina, won the opening race of three miles. Christina's elapsed time was 48 minutes and 30 seconds. Silver Hind, sailed by W. B. Park and S. A. Webber, was a close second, followed by High Seas, sailed by Commodore Walter Eggers and K. Eastman.

The wind shifted from southwest to west for the afternoon race, during which the nine boats competing sailed through a rain squall. In the face of rising wind velocity, Silver Hind and Christina together led the fleet to the first buoy, a mile from the start. After the mark was rounded, first Silver Hind forged ahead, then Christina. At the finish Silver Hind was first.

OAK BROOK AND RISING SUN WIN IN POLO LEAGUE

Oak Brook defeated the 124th Field Artillery, 18 to 8, and Rising Sun Ranch turned back Du Page County, 15 to 6, in Central Polo league games at the Oak Brook stadium yesterday. The winners are paired in another league battle at Oak Brook Thursday.

In the Rising Sun-Du Page match, which was played yesterday morning, J. G. Gilmore recorded six goals while Capt. Paul Butler accounted for five. Both are with Rising Sun.

Parades, Games Mark Close of Czechoslovakia Tourney

Thousands of athletes parading, drilling, and competing in games brought to a close yesterday the American Sokol Slet at Soldiers' field, held by Chicagoans of Czechoslovakian descent as their contribution to Chicago's Charter Jubilee. The picturesque national dance, the valasky, was performed by 100 men in costume. Among the speakers was Col. Vladimir Hurban, Czechoslovak minister to the United States.

Newport, R. I., June 20.—(AP)—Harold S. Vanderbilt's Ranger, candidate for defense of the America's cup, today won its sixth consecutive trial victory, defeating Chandler Hove's Rainbow by 11 minutes.

Rainbow held the lead briefly on the first leg of the 26 mile triangle beat to windward, but Ranger soon worked by it and the race became a dull procession.

Vanderbilt's yacht now holds three victories over Gerard B. Lambert's Yankee and two over Rainbow.

WALTER WILLMAN AGAIN LEADS IN CASTING EVENTS

Sixto Escobar and Robertson Meet Tonight

Sixto Escobar, bantamweight champion, and Pat Robertson, New York featherweight, will meet in a ten round overweight bout tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

Robertson, who at 125 pounds will outweigh Sixto three or four pounds, is an aggressive two fisted fighter. Thus, it appears that the champion will encounter strong opposition in his Chicago debut.

At any rate, it has caused Co-Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun to make arrangements to handle a record crowd.

The supporting card will be headed by a five round contest between Carl Vinciquerra, Omaha heavyweight, and Webster Epperson. They are Golden Gloves graduates.

The Helstrom twins, Eddie and Johnny, will perform in two scraps at four rounds. Eddie hooks up with Lee Morris, Milwaukee welterweight, and Johnny faces Bill Reardon, Chicago junior welterweight. Mike Cusimano, newcomer from New Orleans, La., clashes with Georgie White, Chicago 145 pound scrapper, in one of two other encounters.

Sixto Escobar has accepted an offer to defend his 118 pound title against Peter Kane at Liverpool in the latter part of August or early September. Lou Brix, manager of the champion, agreed to terms made by Sid Hulls, English promoter, through Trevor C. Wignall, London correspondent in Chicago to cover the Braddock-Louis engagement.

Golfers Face Busy Week; 3 Meets Today

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

With the national professional and open tournaments and the western women's open championship out of the way, the Chicago district this week will settle down to one of its busiest sessions of the season within its own back yard.

Three events are scheduled today, two of them conducted by the Chicago District Golf association. One is the 18 hole qualifying round of the C. D. G. A.'s second annual junior open tournament at the Twin Orchard club, Wolf road and Bryn Mawr avenue. Another is the district's pro-amateur championship at Butterfield, for which each professional has been requested to bring an amateur from his own club. Approximately 1,000 golfers will gather at Medinah to celebrate Jack Arvey day.

Wednesday will mark the opening of a batch of invitational tournaments. The 16th annual Hullabaloo day of the Bob o' Link club, one of the best known club tournaments in the country, will be held Wednesday and Thursday. A field of 300 is expected to compete for a list of prizes topped by a convertible coupe. Wednesday's program also includes Edgewood Valley's Valley-Hoo and Elmhurst's Blowout.

Thursday's calendar is headed by the annual tournament of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Hinsdale's Buggy Ride. Glen Flora members will assemble on Saturday for their annual Wau-kee-waug-an.

KINCANNON HURLS A NO HIT VICTORY FOR NORTH SHORE

A no hit, no run game and a one hit performance by the same team, the North Shores, in a double-header yesterday featured competition in the Chicago Baseball federation.

The perfect game was pitched by Dick Kincannon, who defeated the Cherokees, 12 to 0, at Altgeld park. Dick struck out 14.

North Chicago defeated the Madonna Center team, 10 to 2. The Federals went ten innings to win from the Florals, 8 to 7, at Tuley park.

Dempseys Arrive; First Thought of Children at Home

When Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight boxing champion, arrived in Chicago yesterday, his first word was not—as might be expected—of the Louis-Braddock fight he had come to attend.

Instead, turning to his vivacious young wife, the former Hannah Williams, musical comedy star, he said: "It's time to call and find out about the kids, honey."

The "kids" are the couple's two young daughters, both as dark of hair and eyes as their father. Joan will be 3 in August, and Barbara will be a year old on Aug. 29.

"They're perfect," Mrs. Dempsey reported some 10 minutes later, after a prolonged telephone conversation. "But what do you know, the maid wanted to have Sunday off!"

"Sunday off?" burst out Dempsey, his perturbed face rising out from a stack of barber towels. "And with us out of town, too? Well, what d'ya know about that—

"No, sir," he said emphatically, "we catch the first train back to New York after the fight. We can't risk leaving them."

Gene Tunney, retired champion and the other half of that famous combination which furnished the most talked of episode in the history of the ring—the "long count" battle at Soldiers' field in September, 1926—also arrived yesterday to add his voice to that of the majority which is picking Louis to win tomorrow's fight and the title.

Tunney paused after a round of golf at the Lake Forest estate of Albert D. Laskey to observe: "I think Louis should win, rather easily, because he has youth and punching power in his favor. Braddock is dead game, but he has been out of the ring two years, and at his best he never was a great fighter.

"The champion will make good use of every resource he has," Tunney continued, "but I doubt if he can stand off Louis for 15 rounds."

away. His trainer said that he definitly will not spend those intervening hours at any hotel.

Joe expects to enjoy a day of complete relaxation tomorrow. He will lounge about his villa, gazing out across the blue waters of Lake Michigan while he listens to his phonograph moaning out those Cab Calloway records.

The challenger has come through his six weeks of training in excellent physical condition. Some observers have said Joe is naturally lazy. Maybe he is when there isn't anything to do. Who isn't? But those who sit back in easy chairs and charge Joe with laziness, should follow him through some of those exercises. With a world's championship and a lot of money at stake, who would want to be a lazy bones?

Yanks' Homers Defeat Sox, 8-4 and 7-4

Maggio poled his No. 15 homer into the left field stand, just a bit inside the foul marker, where the distance is not great. Gehrig flied to Kreevich and Dickey singled. This was where Selkirk got loose for the second time. He smashed No. 13 into the right field seats for two more runs. Just to prove that he had a little something left Lyons fanned Powell for third out.

SECOND GAME

Whitehead's troubles in the first inning of the second game were made up of a punctured batter and two singles, one scoring. Crosetti was the victim of the errant pitch and he remained on first base long enough to see the next two fellows fly out. Then Gehrig singled him to third and he scored on Dickey's single to center.

Piet cut loose with a bad throw on Powell to start the second inning and the Yanks accepted the error as an invitation to pick up two runs. In the wake of this miscue came a triple past Walker by Heffner, scoring Powell. Heffner rode home on Pearson's fly to Kreevich.

After fooling around with singles and such minor items for four innings, the champions decided to contribute one of their customary thrills in the fifth. Gehrig singled to right, Walker failing to hold the ball after what appeared to be a successful diving catch. Dickey immediately belted his No. 5 home run into the right field stand, scoring Gehrig.

Sox Finally Break Through.

The Sox bat swinging against Pearson finally bore fruit in the seventh. Appling led off with a single to right for the fourth hit of the game. Hayes and Piet were retired, but Rensa, who previously had doubled, slammed a single into center, driving in Appling. Rosenthal, batting for Whitehead, walked, but Radcliff fouled to Rolfe.

As soon as Cain appeared in the seventh the Yanks put on another roundup, two scoring. Crosetti singled and came in on Di Maggios' triple to the 407 foot sign in right center. Di Maggio scored on Dickey's fourth hit of the game.

The Sox made the score look a little better for home consumption by counting three times off Murphy in the eighth. Walker walked with one out and Bonura doubled. Walker scored while Appling was being tossed out. Hayes planted a double in right, scoring Bonura. Piet survived on a fumble by Crosetti and Rensa followed with a single on which Hayes rode home.

BUDGET PARING IS ORDERED FOR '39 FISCAL YEAR

1937 Deficit Over 2⅔ Billions.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—(AP)—The budget bureau chief said today President Roosevelt has instructed department heads to pare expenditures in the 1939 fiscal year.

For the 1937 fiscal year ending June 30 the treasury already has recorded a 2 billion 778 million dollar net deficit, exclusive of expenditures for debt retirement. Mr. Roosevelt's revised budget estimates forecast a 418 million net deficit for the 1938 fiscal year.

Asserting he was writing "by direction of the President," Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director, said in a message to department heads that 1939 expenditure estimates should be compiled by Sept. 15.

"In the preparation of your estimates," he said, "every possible effort should be made to bring the amount of each item below the corresponding amount available for expenditure for the fiscal year 1938.

Wants Increases Offset.

"Any increase in particular items considered absolutely essential in order to comply with the requirements of law should be offset by reductions in other items."

Bell added that estimates should cover all requirements for the entire 1939 fiscal period "in order to avoid the transmission to congress of supplemental estimates."

Treasury officials said budget experts would work with department heads to shave expenditures for 1939. After the departmental estimates are drafted, they added, the budget bureau itself may effect reductions before transmitting appropriation requests to congress.

Receipts Near 7 Billion.

In his economy message, similar to one sent out last year, Bell said the bureau stood ready to offer information and advice on the preparation of estimates.

For the 1938 fiscal year, Mr. Roosevelt has forecast receipts of 6 billion 906 million, ar increase of 3 per cent over expected revenue this year. At 7 billion 324 million the 1938 expenditure estimate is about 6 per cent under that for this year.

Thus, should the revenue and spending trends projected for 1938 continue through 1939, the government would attain in the latter year the first balanced budget since 1930, together with a tidy surplus.

Wheat Clings to 10 Yr. High on Shortage

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Wheat prices are at the highest level for this season of the year in nearly a decade although the winter crop that is now beginning to move to market is the largest that the United States has harvested since 1931. Superficially at least, the present market situation presents a paradox because in the current season of relatively big production the price of wheat is higher than in recent years when short crops were harvested.

A number of factors have helped create the present relatively high price level. At the end of a cycle of poor production years the scarcity of supplies is more acute than it is during the first year or two of poor harvests.

Reserves Below Safety Point

One or even two years of poor harvests may occur without an acute scarcity developing. Supplies carried over from earlier seasons of surplus production may be drawn upon, preventing an extreme advance in prices. When wheat production began to fall off sharply in the United States a few years ago there was no immediate pinch felt. An unprecedented surplus of wheat was backed up in the warehouses throughout the country. Gradually, however, through a series of crop failures or near failures this surplus was depleted until the nation's reserve supply today is below what is normally regarded as an adequate safety margin.

What applies to the United States applies to the rest of the world. The United States has not been an important factor in the export market for nearly a decade. This season, however, there is a ready market abroad for any surplus wheat that may be produced in this country and American prices are not out of line with the world market, as has been the case during most of the period since 1929.

Still another reason why wheat is commanding a better price now than it did at comparable seasons in recent years is the general inflation in commodity prices that has occurred

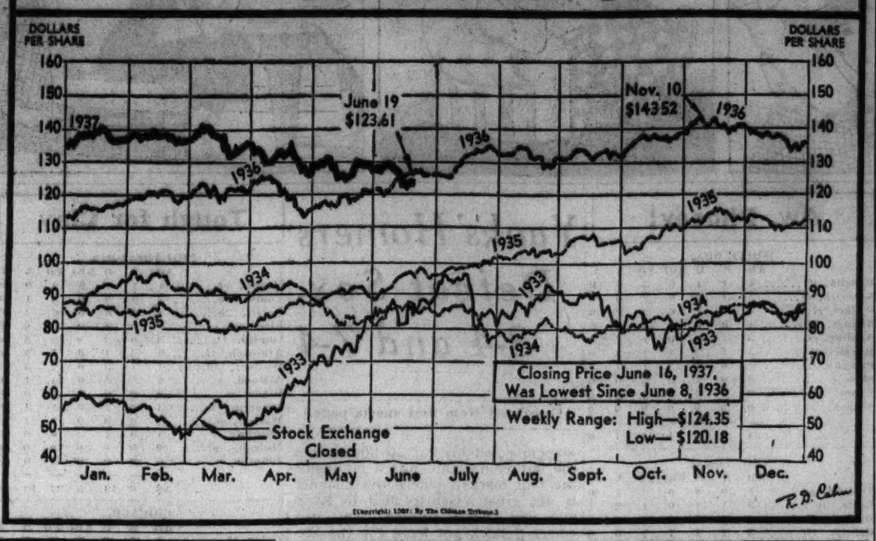
Average Daily Closing Price of 50 Leading Stocks on the New York Stock Exchange



Everyday Economics

This daily feature is presented in response to requests for simple explanations of matters concerning finance, business, and the markets. Suggestions from readers are welcomed. Address "Editor, Everyday Economics."

Higher than Due.

The expressions "higher than due" and "lower than due" are among the many trade terms in the grain business that are confusing to laymen.

"Liverpool wheat opened 1 cent higher than due" may appear in a market report.

Explanation of the term lies in the different trading hours on the Chicago and Liverpool markets. The English market closes at 10:15 a. m., Chicago time, while trading on the Chicago Board of Trade continues until 1:15 p m. If the price of wheat in Chicago advances between 10:15 a. m. and 1:15 p. m. the relation of prices between the two markets changes.

To catch up with Chicago the Liverpool price should open higher the following morning. If the opening price in Liverpool does not match the gain that has occurred in Chicago the preceding day after the closing of the Liverpool market, the market there is "lower than due." If it shows more of an advance than the Chicago price advance after 10:15 the preceding day it is "higher than due."

Tobacco Price Average Reported Up Slightly

New York, June 20.—(AP)—The average price for United States type 12, grade BF4, flue cured tobacco in the week ended June 19 was 19.7 cents a pound, as against 19.4 cents in the preceding week and 16.3 cents in the like week last year, H. A. Stich, tobacco economist, announced today.

RAILWAY FREIGHT CARS ON ORDER MOST SINCE 1924

New freight cars on order on June 1 for class 1 railroads were larger than for any corresponding date since 1924, the Association of American Railroads announced yesterday. More steam locomotives were on order than for any June since 1930.

The number of freight cars on order on June 1 was 45,176, against 25,748 on June 1, 1936; 1,479 on June 1, 1935, and 61,256 on June 1, 1924. The orders comprised 20,420 coal cars, 20,291 box cars, including plain and automobile, 1,764 refrigerator cars, 1,391 flat cars, and 800 stock and 510 miscellaneous cars.

Class 1 railroads had 329 steam locomotives on order on June 1, against 58 a year before and 431 on June 1, 1930. Two years ago there were ten on order. Electric and Diesel locomotives on order at the beginning of this month numbered 30.

The 27,807 new freight cars placed in service in the first five months of 1937 were the largest number of installations in any corresponding period since 1930, when there were 42,122. In the same period last year class 1 carriers installed 8,948 new freight cars, and in the first five months of 1935 1,294.

Color 'Ad' Brings 4,000 to Lake Property Sale

Use of a full page advertisment in four colors in THE TRIBUNE on Friday was credited yesterday by Arthur T. McIntosh, head of the real estate firm bearing his name, with bringing out between 4,000 and 5,000 persons to inspect the Forest Lake property on McHenry road not far from Lake Zurich. It was said that by late in the afternoon 70 deals for lake propert had been closed involving between $70,000 and $80,000. The crowd was so heavy that it swamped the sales force of 50 persons, the firm said.

ADVERSE WEATHER, STRIKES RETARD TRADE IN CHICAGO

A slight curtailment in buying last week in Chicago was reported yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce. Adverse weather conditions, the usual lull following school graduation, and uncertainties due to the labor situation were cited as reasons for the easiness.

Mail order houses reported a good turnover of summer wares. Railroads and public utilities continued to show gains over the same period a year ago. Automobile dealers and real estate concerns also reported heavy interest among prospective buyers, the association said.

SKILLED LABOR SHORTAGE FOUND IN CHICAGO AREA

A 35 per cent shortage of skilled labor in many lines of work exists in the Chicago district, the Illinois Manufacturers' association reported yesterday. The types of work for which it is most difficult to secure skilled and efficient employés were said to be tool and die makers, machinists, assemblers, polishers, buffers, lathe workers, moulders, machine operators, planers, scrapers, screw machine operators, drill press operators, sheet metal workers, and tool designers.

"There is no shortage of labor in the building trades," the report continued, "although building construction shows considerable signs of improvement in the Chicago district and all over the state.

"Relatively speaking, there have been no new recruits in the metal trades during the last seven years. Old employés have died, gone on relief or gone into other lines and, in some cases, don't want to work."

Utility Issue Heads Week's Security Deals

A 25 million dollar bond issue of New York Telephone company tops the list of securities qualifying under the Securities Exchange act for public offering this week. Actual offering dates are uncertain in view of unsettled market conditions.

The telephone issue consists of refunding mortgage, series B, bonds bearing 3½ per cent interest, due July 1, 1967. Proceeds would be used to retire corresponding amount of 6½ per cent preferred stock on July 15 at 110. Morgan Stanley & Co. is expected to head the underwriting syndicate.

Other issues this week completing the 20-day period since registration with the Securities and Exchange commission include 200,000 shares of no par cumulative preferred stock of Standard Brands, Inc., food concern.

Cluett, Peabody Deal.

Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., shirt makers, plans to issue 112,974 shares of no par common stock to be offered to shareholders at $22 a share in the ratio of one new share for each five held. The unsubscribed portion will be purchased by the underwriters, headed by Goldman, Sachs & Co., at $22 a share. The dealer discount on the unsubscribed portion will be 75 cents of which 25 cents will be reallowable. Proceeds will be used for plant additions, additional machinery and equipment and for working capital.

The Ahlberg Bearing company of Chicago plans to issue 50,000 shares of $5 par 7 per cent cumulative participating class A preferred to be issued in exchange for a similar number of $5 par class A common.

Register Common Stock.

The company has also registered 375,000 shares of $1 par common of which 100,000 shares are reserved for conversion, 200,000 to be issued in exchange for a similar number of class B common and the remainder to be offered through the underwriters at $3 a share. Proceeds are to be used for equipment and working capital. W. R. Stuart & Co. are the underwriters.

STORE OFFICIALS TO OPEN 4 DAY MEETING TODAY

More than 2,000 department, dry goods and specialty store executives from all over the country are expected to attend the 1937 mid-year convention of the National Retail Dry Goods association which will be opened this morning at the Palmer House.

Many problems, including those resulting from the extension of governmental influence in business and from changing labor relationships, will be discussed during the four day meeting.

Among the subjects which will receive special attention by the store executives will be the danger of the loss of individual store freedom in buying and selling operations contained in numerous legislative proposals, increased operating costs caused by the rise in taxation, reduction of working hours and higher wage levels and possible dangers of rising retail credit volume.

STEEL STRIKES RULING FACTOR IN STOCK TRADE

Market Depressed by Labor Wars.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 20.—[Special.]—Strikes in the steel, mining, motor and other major industries continue to sway operations on the stock exchange to the exclusion of almost every other influence. The French financial crisis gave some concern last week. Even the heat was blamed for a marked slowing up of activity around the trading posts on several days of the week, one of them, yesterday, when the turnover fell to 220,950 shares, being the smallest total of any day since Oct. 27, 1934.

Selling orders predominated in the week's activity generally, the pressure developing in sufficient volume on one day—Thursday—to drop THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S index of fifty representative issues to 120.18, the lowest since June 5, 1936. Subsequent improvement brought the index to 123.61 at the close of business yesterday to make the net loss on the week 1.76 points.

Upturn Is Not Unanimous.

The week-end upturn, modest as it was, by no means was unanimous, with some fifteen of the 508 issues traded in during the two hour session receding to new lows for the year and a number of groups losing ground. The railroad section was one to decline, falling under the shadow of some fresh anxiety on the strike movement among the members of the five big brotherhoods, who are pressing demands for wage increases.

While the labor troubles weighed on market sentiment generally, the share groups most directly affected by the fresh strike outbreaks fared little worse on the whole than the millrun of the list.

Brokers Are Hopeful.

As to the market's nearby future brokers generally profess hopefulness. Chart followers interpreted price movements the latter part of the week as a "filling-in" of the "break-away gap" which they saw in Monday's sharp setback, and were prompt to point out that such a performance after a long decline often hss signalized a smart rally.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Rare Crops Come Up

June 20, 1937.

NEW signs are being put up in the test fields to aid visitors in identifying crops that are being grown on THE TRIBUNE farm this season. A dozen or more strange names will appear on the signs this year. These crops are being grown on the Wheaton place for the first time and are strangers even to veteran agriculturists in this region.

In the special birdseed garden, being tried out for the first time, the broom corn millet and hemp plants are about an inch high. The black bird and red bird varieties of rape and sunflower plants are two inches above the ground. Canary grass is three inches tall. Poppy plants are just breaking through the surface.

Their Bills Water.

Birds may not be able to read the freshly painted signs in the bird seed garden, but the black birds, red birds, robbins, and blue birds now playing around the plots are cocking their eyes at the plants—apparently they know instinctively what these plants will produce.

In the exhibition vegetable garden in field A, crops are thriving. Several are ready to eat, including leaf lettuce, radishes, and beet tops for greens. Swiss chard will be ready to harvest for greens this week. Peas are blooming and the vines have started to run. Onions will be ready to pull in about two weeks.

The three vegetable varieties of soy beans are running neck and neck. Practically all of the plants are at least six inches high and are of a rich green color.

Pests started working on the crops fairly early in the season, but they are being effectively kept under control with arsenate of lead. All of the crops in field A are kept sprayed with the poisonous material, which kills the pests that eat the leaves of the vegetables.

New Legume Grown.

Sesbania or indigo plant, one of the new legume crops, is making a good showing in the test plots. Some of the plants already have branches two inches long. At the present time the indigo plants resemble seradella or German clover, also a new crop at the farm. Some of the seradella plants are 2½ to 3 inches tall and are developing rapidly.

Insect pests and diseases have caused little trouble in the small grain fields so far. Last week smut appeared on a few scattering heads in the fall sown wheat. The wheat is about 3½ to 4 feet high, and small spots here and there were beaten down during recent rain storms. The plants still are green and most of them are expected to straighten up enough to be cut with a combine harvester.

Heads are beginning to form inside the top blades of the Spartan barley plants and will be opening within a short time. The barley is 12 to 18 inches high. Plants of the erban variety of oats are more than a foot tall.

Chia [salvia hispanica], a new crop being grown for oil bearing seed, has made a good start. The stand is thick and the plants are 12 inches high.

Investors' Guide

Bismarck Hotel Company.

Investors' Guide: Do you have any information as to the standing of Randolph Hotel company of Chicago? I hold a participation certificate I understand is to be exchanged for stock in July, 1939. Would you think there might be a sale for the certificate before that date? I am an old woman and the two years mean a lot to me.—I. B. C.

Answer: The corporation, whose name recently was changed to the Bismarck Hotel company, owns an 18 story hotel building, 22 story office building, and 2,500 seat motion picture theater on land partly owned and partly leased on the south side of Randolph street between La Salle and Wells streets. The three units are known as the Bismarck hotel, Metropolitan building, and Palace theater.

Default occurred in 1931 on the $7,250,000 of first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, and a reorganization under provisions of the federal bankruptcy laws was placed in effect during 1936. Capitalization of the company was changed to consist solely of 80,555 shares of no par value stock, bondholders receiving 90 per cent and former stockholders 10 per cent of the new stock.

The stock was placed in a voting trust to end July 22, 1939, unless terminated sooner by unanimous vote of the three trustees operating the property under the trust, and may be extended for a maximum of three years by majority vote of holders of participating certificates. Certificates representing 1 share of stock for each $100 of old bonds were issued to bondholders.

The certificates may be traded as if they were stock and have been quoted recently between $26 and $31 a share.

Gross revenues from the property amounted to $1,955,000 during 1936. Net income of $61,558 was reported after taxes, ground rent, $170,000 depreciation, and all ordinary expenses. After paying $177,835 reorganization expense, however, there was a loss of $116,000. Increased operating profit is expected in 1937.

Including valuation of $7,809,000 for its property, the company showed total assets of $8,219,000 on its balance sheet of Dec. 31, 1936. Cash amounted to $251,000. The stock is carried at a stated value of $50 a share, and surplus is shown at $3,613,000.

As of March 31, 1937, all real estate taxes had been paid through 1935 [1936 taxes not yet due], except $65,000 contested by the company.
